This city can be so cruel. They are tearing down the I Hotel. All my lolos, the old manongs, with nowhere to go.

I started spending more time in the Kearny Street area last year, mostly for the food. Yum! It's like Manilatown and Chinatown, all in one.

The funniest thing nearby is this pinoy club that puts on shows. They call it a 'Punk' music. The boys are funny looking, but really nice.

I've helped out the manongs when I can, usually every couple of weeks.

At first, I was shy at the protests. I didn't want to have visa troubles.

But Totoy's activism in Manila runs in the family, I guess.
