Re: Office of Citizen Complaints 2013 Annual Comprehensive Statistical Report

I. INTRODUCTION

Enclosed is the Office of Citizen Complaints' ("OCC") 2013 Annual Comprehensive Statistical Report. In 2013, the OCC received 727 complaints and closed 722 complaints of police misconduct or failure to perform a duty. The 727 complaints opened represent the lowest number of complaints received by the OCC in 21 years of reliable statistical records. The OCC mediated 59 complaints and sustained 43 complaints. The six percent sustained rate, which is the same rate as in 2012, is the second lowest sustained rate in over 21 years.

The Mayor's Office's 2014/2015 and 2015/2016 budget instructions directed City departments to prepare a two year budget for 2014/2015 and 2015/2016 with a 1.5% reduction of general fund support for the first budget year and a 1% reduction for the second budget year. These reductions were based on a City and County of San Francisco general fund projected $100.7 million budget deficit for 2014/2015 and a projected $118.3 million budget deficit for 2015/2016. The OCC's reduction targets are $49,803 for 2014/2015 and $32,722 for 2015/2016.

II. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The OCC has served under the leadership of Director Joyce M. Hicks since November 2007. The OCC began 2013 with 32.75 filled full time equivalent positions. Two positions could not be filled due to underfunding in the personnel budget.

In 2013, Director Hicks promoted Erick Baltazar, an OCC Senior Investigator, to the Deputy Director/Chief of Investigations position. The Deputy Director/Chief of Investigations manages the investigation and the clerical units.

The investigators' average caseloads at 2013's conclusion were 21 cases. The investigators' average caseloads were 20, 21 and 25 at the conclusion of the first, second and third quarters, respectively.

In 2013, the OCC opened 727 cases and closed 722 cases. The OCC facilitated the mediation of approximately 8% of the cases it closed, or 59 mediations.

The OCC's pending cases at the close of 2013, 312 of them, were the second lowest number of pending cases at the year's close in five years. During 2013, OCC investigators closed 59% of the OCC's 2013 cases. Investigators continued to make improvements in the timeliness of investigations by closing cases in an average 156 days compared to 175 days in 2012. The OCC's sustained rate was 6% in 2013, the same as in 2012. The OCC's 21-year average sustained rate is 8.2% and its median sustained rate over 21 years is the same.

The OCC's legal unit led by Ines Vargas Fraenkel, provided sustainability analyses to the investigators. The legal unit also reviewed and finalized sustained reports. The unit prosecuted eight cases involving eight officers. Deputy Chiefs heard nine of these cases involving eight officers at the Chief's Hearing level. The remaining six cases involving seven officers were before the Police Commission. The legal unit also oversaw the OCC's robust mediation program. Additionally, the legal unit's significant policy work included continued attention to police policies on shooting at vehicles, language access and interactions with juveniles and the mentally ill. Additional policy work was focused on use of force protocols. The legal unit oversaw outreach efforts under the OCC's Community Outreach Strategic Plan, the first of its kind in the nation.

The OCC's information technology unit staffed by Chris Wisniewski with some clerical assistance maintained the OCC's phones, databases, website, and other information technology equipment. Additionally, in conjunction with a developer, the unit continued development of an online complaint with an expected completion date of June 30, 2014. The unit also implemented an auto prompt system that notifies investigators of deadlines. Finally, the technology unit produced all the statistics for the OCC's quarterly reports and this annual report and posted the reports on the OCC's website.

Through its clerical unit the OCC responded to over 400 document requests from the Police Department, the City Attorney's Office, the Public Defender's Office, the courts, other agencies, complainants and police officers. These document requests named over 1000 officers. The costs of storage and retrieval of these records was approximately $7,632, this represents a 25% increase over last year's $6,100 storage and retrieval costs.

III. ORGANIZATIONAL AND BUDGET MATTERS

A. Staffing

The OCC has served under the leadership of Director Joyce M. Hicks since November 2007. The OCC began 2013 with 32.75 filled full time equivalent positions. The staff included 15 journey level investigators but two of them were on leaves of absence by the end of the first quarter. Seventeen journey level investigator positions were included in the budget for a total of 34.75 full time equivalent positions in the OCC but only 15 journey level investigator positions could be filled due to budget mandates including a mandated vacancy factor and step adjustment which reduced the OCC's personnel budget by nearly $270,000.

In 2013, Director Hicks promoted Erick Baltazar, an OCC Senior Investigator, to the Deputy Director/Chief of Investigations position. The Deputy Director/Chief of Investigations leads the Investigations Unit and the Clerical Unit. The senior investigator position vacated by Deputy Director Baltazar was filled in an acting capacity by Sherry Fletcher, a journey level investigator. By December 31, 2013, 14 journey level investigators were employed by the OCC, but one of them was acting as a senior investigator. During 2013, the OCC hired a temporary employee to perform investigator tasks.

B. Training

During 2013, the OCC continued implementing its strategic plan for training its employees. In February, the Police Department Director of Technology, Sue Giffen, informed the investigators about The Police Department's technology initiatives including the implementation of a search engine, the Crime Data Warehouse.

In May, the OCC staff watched the movie, Heroes Behind the Badge, to develop an understanding of officers' perspectives on their risks in critical incidents.

In September, representatives from the investigation and legal teams attended four days of training at the National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE) annual training conference. At the conference, Attorney Samara Marion co-presented on a panel she had developed on policy recommendations for officer involved shootings and other critical incidents, Attorney Donna Salazar co-presented on a panel on mediations and Investigator Jayson Wechter co-presented on a panel he had developed on investigations.

Also in September, two clerical staff members and two investigators attended all day Department of Health Services training on Non-Violent Crisis Intervention. Clerical staff also participated in training on conflict resolution training and web page development.

In December OCC management and supervisory staff received the City's harassment in the workplace training.

C. Budget

The Mayor released the 2013/2014 budget to the Board of Supervisors on May 31, 2013 for consideration and final adoption by July 31, 2013. The Mayor's proposed budget enhanced the OCC's 2012-2013 baseline budget of $4,610,850.00 to provide for increased overhead cost and it also provided funding to replace the OCC's two 14-year old cars. The Board of Supervisors Budget and Finance Committee held budget hearings for the Public Safety Departments on June 19 and June 26. The Committee recommended that the OCC's cars be neither replaced nor retired because in spite of their old age, the mileage was low.¹ Additionally, the Committee recommended a budget reduction equal to a three months attrition savings for the vacant Chief Investigator position because the Director did not anticipate filling it until August.

The adopted budget and appropriation ordinance for Fiscal Years 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 was passed by the Board of Supervisors and approved by Mayor Edwin M. Lee on July 24th, 2013. The adopted budget provided the OCC with a $4,829,125 appropriation for 2013-2014. This increased the OCC's 2012-2013 baseline by $218,275. The $5,012,287 appropriation for 2014-2015 increased the OCC's 2013/2014 appropriation by $183,162. The budget includes the following 34.75 positions:

1. Department Head
2. Deputy Director
3. Attorney (3.75)
4. Information Technology Business Analyst
5. Executive Assistant
6. Senior Account Clerk
7. Senior Investigator (3)
8. Investigator (17)
9. Principal Clerk
10. Clerk Typist (3)
11. Senior Clerk Typist (2)

The Mayor's Office's 2014/2015 and 2015/2016 budget instructions directed City departments to prepare a two year budget for 2014/2015 and 2015/2016 with a 1.5% reduction of general fund support for the first budget year and a 1% reduction for the second budget year. These reductions were based on a City and County of San Francisco general fund projected $100.7 million budget deficit for 2014/2015 and a projected $118.3 million budget deficit for 2015/2016. The OCC's reduction targets are $49, 803 for 2014/2015 and $32, 722 for 2015/2016. If the budget reductions are made, the OCC will lose a vacant investigator position.

IV. MISSION OF THE OFFICE OF CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The mission of the OCC is to investigate complaints against San Francisco police officers promptly, fairly, and impartially and make policy recommendations concerning police practices.

V. HISTORY AND FUNCTIONS OF THE OFFICE OF CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The OCC first became staffed and began its operations in 1983. It was created by charter amendment proposed by the Board of Supervisors that was adopted by the voters on November 2, 1982. By subsequent charter amendments, the OCC is guaranteed minimum staffing of one investigator for every 150 police officers and the OCC Director may file charges with the Police Commission after meeting and conferring with the Police Chief. (San Francisco City Charter, Article IV, section 4.127.) The OCC is a civilian-staffed local governmental department that reports to the Police Commission. The Police Commission is a volunteer civilian body of seven (7) members, four (4) members nominated by the Mayor and three (3) members nominated by the Board of Supervisors. A majority of the Board of Supervisors must confirm each member. The Police Commission nominates the Director of the OCC and the Mayor appoints the Director subject to approval by the Board of Supervisors. The Police Commission has the power to terminate the services of the OCC Director. The Director of the OCC reports to the Police Commission at its weekly meetings. By Charter, the Police Commission holds the power to manage, organize, and reorganize the OCC. In practice, these powers are exercised by the Police Commission through the OCC Director. Civilians who have never been police officers in San Francisco staff the Office of Citizen Complaints.

The OCC receives, investigates, and makes findings on civilian complaints of misconduct (including acts and omissions) by sworn members of the San Francisco Police Department. Where the OCC sustains one or more allegations against one or more officers in a given case, either the Chief of Police or the Police Commission decides the case. The factors governing whether the Police Commission hears a case that has been sustained by the OCC include severity of misconduct and of potential discipline; complexity of issues presented; degree of public interest in the matter and OCC recommendation to the Chief of Police as to forum (Chief or Commission). The Chief of Police either refers the case to the Commission or hears it directly. The Chief of Police has disciplinary power to issue up to a 10-day suspension; the Commission holds all greater disciplinary power, including the power to hear appeals from the Chief's disciplinary decisions. Both the Chief and the OCC Director (after conferring with the Chief) may file charges of officer misconduct with the Commission.

In 2013, the Office of Citizen Complaints' staff spoke multiple languages, including French, Spanish, Tagalog, Mandarin, Cantonese, and Burmese. If complainants spoke a language other than those languages spoken by OCC staff, the OCC staff provided an interpreter free of charge.

Consistent with the Peace Officers' Bill of Rights, officers accused by complaints filed with the OCC receive notice of the allegations against them, an opportunity to be heard by the OCC and to be represented during the investigative process, and notice of the outcome of the OCC's process. Officers are required by local law to appear upon written notice from the OCC, and if they fail to appear without sufficient cause, they are subject to discipline. If the OCC sustains a complaint against an officer, the officer is served with written charges and the officer is provided a hearing before either the Chief or the Commission.

The City Charter requires the OCC to receive every complaint of alleged police misconduct or improper performance made by a member of the public where the complaint involves one or more sworn San Francisco Police Department members. The OCC's practice is to limit its investigations to those complaints involving on-duty conduct or conduct under the color of authority. The OCC investigates all complaints unless the allegations on their face show proper conduct or they are outside OCC's jurisdiction. The OCC forwards to proper authorities all cases outside its jurisdiction.

The OCC performs four distinct functions: (1) investigates complaints and makes findings on those complaints; (2) mediates complaints; (3) analyzes police policies and practices; and (4) performs community outreach. OCC's 33-member staff performed these functions in 2013. Pursuant to the Charter, none of these employees has ever served as an employee of the San Francisco Police Department.

The OCC consists of eight functional units: Executive, Legal, Mediation and Outreach, Investigative, Policy Analysis, Information Services, Clerical and Accounting. Latter sections of this report will more thoroughly describe the functions of each of these units. The Legal Unit houses Mediation, Outreach, and Policy Analysis while the Executive Unit houses Accounting.

VI. EXECUTIVE UNIT

Director Joyce M. Hicks led the Executive Unit in 2013. The Executive Unit included Executive Secretary Pamela Thompson and the Senior Account Clerk Laura Tham. The Executive Unit was responsible for directing and managing office operations, including personnel and budget tasks. In addition, the Director reviewed all investigations and findings and the managers of the other units in the office reported to her.

VII. INVESTIGATION UNIT AND INVESTIGATION OF CASES

Deputy Director Erick Baltazar managed the Investigation Clerical Units in 2013. The three investigative teams led by Senior Investigators Dennis Maxson, Edward McMahon and Acting Senior Investigator Sherry Fletcher consisted of 15 permanent investigators at the beginning of 2013 and 13 at year's end. A temporary employee served as a fourteenth journey level investigator.

In 2013, the OCC opened 727 new cases and closed 722 cases. In 2012, the OCC opened 740 new cases and closed 797 cases. The number of new cases in 2013 represents a 2% reduction in complaints filed in the previous year. Beginning in 2010, civilian complaints filed with the OCC trended downward. The most dramatic decrease occurred in 2010 with a 16% decrease in complaints filed in 2009. Since 2009, complaints filed with the OCC have decreased by 29%.

Despite staffing issues faced by the OCC, the investigative staff continued to demonstrate its commitment to the OCC's mission of investigating civilian complaints of police misconduct or neglect of duty promptly, fairly and impartially. In 2009, with 17 journey investigators, the OCC investigators' caseloads were reduced to 21 cases per investigator. In 2010, with only 10 investigators, their caseloads increased to 31 cases per investigator. By the end of 2011, with 14 investigators having full caseloads and a continued decrease in complaint filings, the investigators' caseloads were less than an ideal number but were more manageable at 23 cases per investigator. By the end of 2012, with 13 investigators having full caseloads and a continued decrease in complaint filings, the investigators' caseloads continued to be a less than ideal number but were more manageable at 21 cases per investigator. Finally, by the end of 2013 with 14 investigators having full caseloads and a continued decrease in complaint filings, the investigators remained at 21 cases per investigator.

In its 2007 audit of the OCC, the Controller's Office reported that, after studying comparable caseloads at other agencies, OCC investigators had a far higher caseload than investigators in comparable agencies. The Controller found that the average caseload in comparable agencies was 16 cases per investigator while the OCC's investigators had an average caseload of 34 cases in 2007.

By the close of 2013 seven cases from prior years were pending. Two of the pending cases were filed in 2011. These two cases were tolled because the officers were under criminal investigation. Five of the pending cases were filed in 2012. Two of them were tolled officer-involved shooting cases and the remaining three cases had no sustainable allegations. At year's end, 305, or less than half (42%) the complaints filed in 2013, were pending. Insufficient staffing continued to have a negative impact on the time it took to investigate a case to completion. In prior years, insufficient staffing did not appear to have a negative impact on the sustained rate and the sustained rate of 6% in 2013 tied with 2012 as the third highest sustained rate in five years. The 2013 sustained rate was 2.2 percentage points below the 8.2% average sustained rate over a 21-year period. (See Appendix A, page 7)

The rate of sustained cases began to increase in 2009. The sustained rate for 2009 was 5.14%. This was up from 3.83% in 2008 and comparable to the 5.4% sustained rate in 2007. The sustained rate increased dramatically in 2010 to 8.9%. It declined by nearly two percentage points to 6.97% in 2011. The sustained rate declined again in 2012 by nearly one percentage point. The sustained rate remained the same in 2013. The 2013 sustained rate is 72% of the twenty-one year baseline.

In studying sustained rates over the past five years against the twenty-one year mean, the 2009 sustained rate was 5.14% or 62% of mean.² Then, in 2010 the sustained rate increased to 8.9% or 108% of mean. In 2011, the sustained rate decreased to 6.97 or 85% of mean. In 2012, the sustained rate decreased again to 6.007% or 74% of mean. In 2013, the sustained rate was 5.955% or 72% of mean (See Appendix A, page 8)

VIII. SAN FRANCISCO POLICE DEPARTMENT STAFFING TRENDS AND OTHER STATISTICS

A. Two Percent Sworn Staff Decline Between 2013 and 2012

The number of sworn SFPD staff decreased by two percent between 2012 and 2013. In 2012, sworn staff totaled 2178; in 2013, sworn staff had declined to 2126. In previous years, the sworn staff numbers had declined even more significantly. Between 2009 and 2013, the number of sworn SFPD staff declined by ten percent from 2372 to 2126.

² The sustained rate is calculated by dividing the number of cases with one or more sustained allegations by the number of cases closed. The mean sustained rate between 1993 and 2013 is 8.2%.

B. Twenty-two Percent Decrease in SFPD's Calls for Service Since 2008

San Francisco's Department of Emergency Management (DEM) data indicates that SFPD's calls for service have decreased since 2008. The number of urgent and non-urgent calls for service in 2008 totaled 1,667,218. In 2013, calls for service had dropped to 1,301,654 representing a 22% reduction.

C. Seventy-six Percent Satisfaction Rate with the San Francisco Police Department

In a February 2013 poll conducted by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce by David Binder Research, 76% of the participants were favorable and 16% were unfavorable to the San Francisco Police Department. The results in 2012 were a 72% favorable rate and an 18% unfavorable rate.

IX. STATE AND NATIONAL TRENDS IN COMPLAINTS AGAINST LAW ENFORCEMENT

A. Seventeen Percent Decrease in Police Misconduct Complaints from 2008 to 2012

California Department of Justice data shows a statewide decrease in the number of reported citizens' complaints against peace officers from 24,358 in 2007 to 20,363 in 2012. However the data shows a 9% increase in the complaints filed between 2011 and 2012. Complaints filed in 2011 totaled 18,590 compared to 20,363 in 2012³. Despite the increase in the number of statewide complaints between 2011 and 2012, the number of total sustained complaints decreased from 1,724 in 2011 to 1,612 in 2012.⁴

B. Nationwide, Police Misconduct Complaints Have Decreased In Several Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement Agencies.

For the past five years, the volume of civilian complaints of police misconduct has decreased at the nation's largest civilian oversight agency, the New York City Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB). In 2013, the CCRB received 5,419 complaints, the lowest number of complaints since 2003. The 2013 complaint level for the CCRB represents a decrease of over 28% when compared to the agency's average of 7,535 complaints a year

³ The California Department of Justice has not yet issued its 2013 statistics on citizens' complaints received by law enforcement agencies.

filed from 2006 to 2009.⁵ Washington D.C.'s Police Complaints Board's complaints decreased by 23% from 2012 to 2013.⁶ (Chicago's Independent Police Review Authority received 8% fewer complaints in 2013 than in 2012.⁷

X. COMPLAINANTS AND HOW COMPLAINTS WERE RECEIVED

The demographic characteristics of complainants can be found in tables and charts in Appendix A beginning on pages 13 through 24. In 2013, Caucasians at 30.95% and African Americans at 28.01% made up the largest percentage of complainants. The majority of complainants, 58.06%, were male. According to 2012 U.S. Census Bureau data, African Americans were only 6.1% of San Francisco's population, yet they were 28% of the OCC's 2013 complainants. The majority of complainants fell between the ages of 20 and 50. In 2013, slightly over 95% percent of the case intakes were in English. The next most frequent language was Spanish comprising slightly over 3% of the case intakes (25 cases). The following five languages totaled one percent of the case intakes, Cantonese (3 cases), Mandarin (2 cases), Amharic (1 case), Korean (1 case) and Russian (1 case). (See Appendix A page 21.)

Complainants have several avenues for filing complaints with the OCC. Over a five-year period, the most frequent method for complaint filing has been in person. The next two most frequent filings have been by phone and by mail with filings by phone steadily increasing since 2010. The fourth most popular method for complainants is filing with the Police Department in person, by mail, phone, or email. Department General Order 2.04, section II, paragraph A., subsection 3 requires commanding officers to refer immediately civilian complaints of police misconduct to the OCC. Between 2010 and 2011, referrals from the Police Department declined by five percentage points from 14% in 2010 to 9% in 2011. However, between 2011 and 2012, referrals from the Police Department increased by two percentage points from 9% in 2011 to 11% in 2012 and they declined by one percentage point to 10% in 2013. (See Appendix A page 12.)

XI. OFFICERS WITH COMPLAINTS

Seventy-five percent of the San Francisco Police Department's force was complaint free in 2013. Five hundred thirty-five (535) officers received complaints in 2013. This comprises 25% of the police force. Of these 535 officers, 405, or 76% of them, each received one complaint. Another 95 officers each received two complaints. Twenty-six (26) officers each received three complaints. Eight (8) officers each received four complaints. One officer received five (5) complaints. (See Appendix A page 25.)

XII. ALLEGATION TYPES

The 727 complaints received by the OCC in 2013 contained allegations ranging from discourtesy to unnecessary force. (See Appendix A, page 27.) The largest percentage of allegations (33%) was for unwarranted action. The second highest percentage of allegations (27%) was for neglect of duty followed by conduct reflecting discredit (26%) and unnecessary force (10%). Between 2012 and 2013, the percentage distribution of allegation types remained largely unchanged.

Unnecessary force allegations comprised 10% of the 2013 allegations. The OCC sustained five allegations of unnecessary force in 2013. These five sustained allegations were contained in three cases, two cases with one officer each receiving a sustained finding of unnecessary force and the third case with three officers each receiving a sustained finding of unnecessary force.

Complainants alleged biased policing in 61 cases, which comprised 8% of cases filed in 2013. Of these, 52 cases alleged racial bias, four cases alleged gender bias, and five cases alleged both racial and gender bias. The OCC did not sustain any bias allegations in 2013. (See Appendix A page 23.)

XIII. COMPLAINTS OF NOTE

A. Single Room Occupancy Hotels

In 2011, complainants filed two complaints involving multiple officers regarding unlawful entry and searches of single room occupancy (SRO) hotel rooms. Other allegations in these complaints include unlawful search of persons, unlawful detentions and arrests, failure to properly process property including laptops and cameras, failure to investigate, failure to supervise and inappropriate behavior. In 2013, these investigations remained open pending action by federal authorities.

B. Officer Involved Shootings

At the end of 2013, the OCC continued to investigate three officer-involved shootings. Two of these shootings resulted in the death of the suspect. In 2013, the OCC closed two 2011 officer involved shooting cases with no sustained findings. In one case, it made policy recommendations.

C. Investigation of the Death of a Bicyclist Involved in a Vehicle Collision

In 2013, a complaint was filed challenging the adequacy of the Police Department's investigation of the death of a bicyclist involved in a vehicle collision and conduct surrounding the investigation. The investigation is pending.

D. SFPD Investigation of a Missing Person

In 2013, a complaint was filed challenging the adequacy of the Police Department's investigation of a person reported missing from the San Francisco General Hospital and later found deceased in a stairwell. The investigation is pending.

E. Officers' Response to Videotaping Bystander

In 2013, several complaints were filed regarding a video taken by a bystander and posted on an internet site. The video showed the bystander videotaping a contact between an individual and SFPD officers, when the bystander was taken into custody. Allegations in the complaint include the unlawful detention and arrest of the bystander, failure to comply with Department General Order 5.04 (Rights of Onlookers), failure to promptly provide name and star number, use of profanity and inappropriate behavior. The investigation is pending.

F. Valencia Gardens Incident

In 2013, the OCC received two complaints regarding an incident that involved several Police Department officers and residents of the Valencia Gardens housing complex. The complaints contain allegations of excessive use of force, unlawful detentions and arrests, unlawful entry and inappropriate behavior. The investigation is pending.

XIV. FINDINGS AND ALLEGATIONS IN CLOSED CASES

A. Standard of Proof

The evidentiary standard for making findings in OCC cases is the "preponderance of the evidence". "Preponderance of the evidence" means that in balancing the probabilities that the incident occurred as the complainant said it did, it is more likely than not (greater than 50%) that the complainant's allegation is true. Often, only the complainant and the officer witness an event, making it difficult to either prove or disprove the allegation.

B. Findings Other Than Sustained

By far the most frequent finding in all allegations was “not sustained”. In 2013, the finding for 61% of allegations in OCC complaints was “not sustained”. Officers were found to have engaged in proper conduct in 25% of the allegations. Complainants’ allegations were “unfounded”, or not true, in two percent (2%) of the allegations. Complainants withdrew three percent (3%) of the allegations. The OCC reached “no finding” in six percent (6%) of the allegations. The OCC makes a “no finding” resolution for a number of reasons including, the complainant’s failure to cooperate in the investigation, the complaint is not grounded in reality or the OCC does not have jurisdiction because the alleged officer is not a member of the San Francisco Police Department staff. Another reason for “no finding” is the officer is retired and without the officer’s interview, there is insufficient evidence to make a finding. (See Appendix A page 49.)

C. Sustained Findings

The OCC sustained three percent (3%) of the allegations in complaints filed in 2013. The most frequently sustained allegation was neglect of duty, 56% of sustained allegations. Unwarranted action followed at 24%. Conduct reflecting discredit represented 10% of sustained allegations. Discourtesy represented three percent (3%) of the sustained allegations. Unnecessary force represented seven percent (7%) of the sustained allegations. (See Appendix A, page 41.) Summaries of sustained cases are found in Appendix A pages 29-40.

The number of days to close sustained cases decreased by five days to 280 in 2013 from 285 days in 2012. In 2013, 51% of sustained cases were completed within nine months and one sustained case, which the complainant withdrew in 2010 and refiled in 2012, was completed more than 365 days after its original receipt in 2010. In 2012, only 41% of the sustained cases were completed within nine months and one sustained case was completed more than 365 days after receipt.⁸ (See Appendix A pages 59-60)

The impediments to prompt completion of sustained cases are attributable to at least three factors: 1) larger than best practices caseloads for investigators resulting in longer times to complete investigations⁹ 2) active trial calendars for the two prosecuting attorneys who also serve as advice attorneys on sustained cases and sustainability reviews and 3) increased policy work for the policy analyst attorney who also serves as an advice attorney on sustained cases and sustainability reviews.

⁸ The one-year statute of limitations for the one sustained case which was completed after 365 days in the first quarter of 2011 was tolled while a criminal investigation was pending pursuant to Government Code section 3304, section (d), subsection (1).

⁹ In its January 27, 2007 audit report on the OCC, the Controller’s CSA division found that 16 cases per investigator was a best practices caseload for civilian oversight investigators. The OCC caseload during the first quarter of 2012 was 23 cases.

During the first quarter of 2013, there were sustained allegations of neglect of duty in six of seven of the sustained complaints. Of these six complaints with sustained neglect of duty allegations, three or 50% of them were for failure to collect traffic stop data.

Additional categories for which allegations were sustained during the first quarter include:

1. Conduct reflecting discredit when a sergeant used profane language and forced the complainant to sit down and return to the end of the line.
2. Neglect of duty for:
 - a. Failing to provide name and star number promptly and instead telling the complainant to find it on the citation.
 - b. Failure to take an incident report.
 - c. Failure to issue a certificate of release after handcuffing and releasing the complainant.

During the second quarter of 2013, the OCC sustained allegations of neglect of duty in 6 of the 7 sustained complaints. Only one of these complaints with a sustained neglect of duty allegation, or 14% of them, was for failure to collect traffic stop data.

Additional categories and cases for which allegations were sustained during the second quarter include:

1. Conduct reflecting discredit when in contravention of Police Department policy, an officer told an arrested mother that her 4-year old child could be taken into custody of Child Protective Services when the policy is that a noncustodial parent may take custody of the child. Her 8-year old son, also a suspect, was improperly told that he could go to jail, when SFPD policy is to refer children younger than 11 years to Child Protective Services.
2. Neglect of duty for:
 - a. Failing to comply with DGO 5.01 (Language Access) and 7.01 (Interactions with Juveniles)
 - b. Failing to remain in constant radio contact in violation of DGO 1.04.
 - c. Failing to process property properly by misplacing the complainant's identification card during booking and arrest. Upon receipt of the complaint, the officer located the complainant's identification card.
 - d. Failing to provide a date on a notice to appear.
 - e. Parking a police vehicle in a bicycle lane near Fox Plaza when conducting nonemergency city business.
3. Unwarranted action when a sergeant and officers kicked a hole in the door of a residence, entered the residence, and detained and arrested occupants of the residence without cause.
4. Unnecessary force when a sergeant and officers without cause entered a residence, grabbed, detained, arrested and removed an occupant from the residence and took him to the ground.

During the third quarter of 2013, the OCC sustained allegations of neglect of duty in five of the eight sustained complaints. Four of these complaints with a sustained neglect of duty allegation, or 50% of them, contained a sustained allegation for failure to collect traffic stop data.

Additional categories and cases for which allegations were sustained during the third quarter include:

1. Conduct reflecting discredit:
 - a. In an encounter with a bicyclist, an officer used profanity, told the complainant to “be a man”, “say it to my face”, and asked the complainant, “Do you have a problem?”
 - b. An officer lost his temper with the complainant when responding to a dispute over parking. The officer yelled at the complainant, approached the complainant aggressively, called the complainant a liar, and dared the complainant to “take him on.”
2. Unwarranted action when a sergeant towed a car driven by an unlicensed driver when the car’s owner, a licensed driver, was sitting in the passenger seat and requested to drive the car.
3. Neglect of duty when an officer failed to receive a complainant’s complaint at the airport and told the complainant he would have to file it downtown.

During the fourth quarter of 2013, the OCC sustained allegations of neglect of duty in 18 of the 21 sustained complaints. Seven of these complaints with a sustained neglect of duty allegation, or 39% of them, were for failure to collect traffic stop data.

Additional categories and cases for which allegations were sustained during the fourth quarter include:

1. Unnecessary force:
 - a. An officer in who failed to identify himself as a police officer forcefully pushed one complainant to the ground. This complainant happened to be in the way of the officer who wanted to detain a second complainant because that complainant used his hands to hit the trunk of the officer’s police car that was navigating through a crowd. Again without identifying himself, the officer grabbed the second complainant from behind and threw him into a truck.
 - b. An officer sought to detain a jaywalking complainant. The complainant fled and in the process discarded a weapon. The officer picked up the complainant’s discarded weapon and used it to strike the complainant.

2. Conduct reflecting discredit:
 - a. Yelling at and behaving aggressively toward a man who was having mental breakdown.
 - b. Incorrectly advising a landlord that she could lock out a tenant.
3. Discourtesy when an officer used profanity.
4. Unwarranted action for searching the complainant's vehicle and seizing his property without probable cause.
5. Neglect of duty for:
 - a. Writing an inaccurate and incomplete incident report.
 - b. Failing to identify self as a police officer when engaging in enforcement activities.
 - c. Failing to notify Communications Division and her immediate supervisor upon returning to her assigned district after leaving her assigned district to respond to an out of district domestic violence call involving the complainant with whom she had prior contact.
 - d. Misidentifying complainant's gender.
 - e. Failing to properly process property by refusing to provide the complainant with a property receipt and instead commingling complainant's property with the co-complainant's property.
 - f. Failing to immediately transmit ending mileage after transporting a female passenger to the County Jail.
 - g. Failing to issue a certificate of release after detaining, handcuffing and placing the complainant in a patrol vehicle, then releasing the complainant from custody.
 - h. When citing the complainant for his food cart, failing to provide the limited English proficient Spanish speaking complainant language access.
 - i. When responding to the complainant, a crime victim, failing to provide the limited English proficient Spanish speaking complainant language access.
 - j. Failing to notify Communications Division that the officer stopped to assist two motorists in a non-injury accident.
 - k. Failing to transmit beginning and ending mileage when transporting a juvenile.

D. Sustained Findings for Failure to Collect Traffic Stop Data

In 2013, officers failed to collect traffic stop data in 15 of 43 cases with sustained findings or in 35% of cases with sustained findings. These allegations were sustained when an officer failed either to complete the worksheet for traffic stop data or to enter the information into the MDT in the patrol vehicle or at the station computer in the case of motorcycle officers.

The Chief of Police is imposing progressive discipline for officers who repeatedly fail to collect traffic stop data. The discipline generally begins with an admonishment for the first offense, but for repeated offenses, the Chief of Police has recommended that the OCC prepare charges for him to file with the Police Commission.

Dr. Lorie Fridell in her 2007 study on Fair and Impartial Policing in San Francisco discusses the importance of accurate data collection should a department determine that it will collect traffic stop data.¹⁰ The Northeastern University Racial Profiling Data Collection Center cites several benefits of collecting stop data for both law enforcement and the community. The Center has found that collecting data about those who are stopped, searched, cited and arrested can¹¹:

- Send a strong message to the community that the department is against racial profiling and that racial profiling is inconsistent with effective policing and equal protection
- Build trust and respect for the police in the communities they serve
- Provide departments with information about the types of stops being made by officers, the proportion of police time spent on high-discretion stops, and the results of such stops
- Help shape and develop training programs to educate officers about racial profiling and interactions with the community
- Enable the development of police and community dialogue to assess the quality and quantity of police-citizen encounters
- Allay community concerns about the activities of police
- Identify potential police misconduct and deter it, when implemented as part of a comprehensive early warning system
- Retain autonomous officer discretion and allow for flexible responses in different situations

E. Chief of Police's Adjudication of OCC Sustained Cases

When the OCC Director forwards a sustained case to the Chief of Police, she can either recommend that the Chief of Police file charges with the Police Commission and after meeting and conferring with the Police Chief, if the Police Chief declines her request, the OCC Director can file charges on her own with the Police Commission. Alternatively, the OCC Director can determine that a case warrants ten days or less of suspension. Sustained cases that the OCC Director determines would warrant no more than ten days of suspension are adjudicated by the Chief of Police. The Chief of Police determines whether to sustain the OCC's findings and what discipline he may impose.

During the first quarter, the Chief of Police adjudicated four OCC sustained cases as follows:¹²

- Neglect of Duty – in violation of the San Francisco Police Department Field Training Manual, March 2010 edition, while conducting a traffic stop, the officer failed to notify Dispatch. The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – in violation of Department Bulletin 11-097, San Francisco Police Department traffic stop data collection policy, while conducting a traffic stop of a bicyclist for running a red light, the officer failed to collect traffic stop data. Chief Suhr disagreed with the OCC's sustained finding and instead found a Policy Failure because SFPD's stop data collection policy specifically refers to vehicles, not bicycles. This case demonstrated the constraints of SFPD's traffic stop data collection policy since it could be narrowly interpreted to apply only to vehicles. Other jurisdictions have broader stop data collection requirements that apply to all stops, not just traffic stops. The officer was not disciplined, as the finding was Policy Failure. Subsequently, on May 21, 2013, the Police Department adopted Department Bulletin 13-091 which included bicycle stops for moving violations.¹³
- Neglect of Duty – in violation of San Francisco Police Department traffic stop data collection policy, an officer failed to collect traffic stop data when conducting a traffic stop. The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – in violation of Department General Order number 2.01, paragraph 14, Public Courtesy, an officer failed to promptly and politely provide his name and star number upon the complainant's request. The officer instead told the complainant the complainant could find the information on the citation. The officer was admonished.

During the second quarter, the Chief of Police adjudicated nine cases as follows:

¹² Cases adjudicated by the Chief of Police during this first quarter are not necessarily cases that were sustained by the OCC during this first quarter.

¹³ In addition to bicycles, pedestrians stopped for moving violations were included in the Police Department's latest Department Bulletin on traffic stop data, Department Bulletin 14-049, adopted March 3, 2014.

- Neglect of Duty – in violation of Department General Orders 1.03, Attention to Duty and 2.01, On-Duty Written Reports and the SFPD Report Writing Manual, an officer failed to prepare an incident report after the complainant advised the officer that the complainant had been punched on a Muni bus. The bus driver reported the alleged assault to Dispatch. The officer advised that he did not prepare an incident report because the complainant left the scene before the officer finished interviewing him. The officer was provided sufficient information to prepare a report. The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – in violation of Department General Order 5.03, an officer failed to issue a certificate of release after handcuffing the complainant.
- Discourtesy and Conduct Reflection Discredit – in violation of Department General Order number 2.01, paragraphs 9 and 14, Misconduct and Public Courtesy, sergeant used uncivil language when the complainant requested assistance. The sergeant was suspended.
- Neglect of Duty – during contact with an elderly woman whom a sergeant observed removing recyclables, the sergeant failed to remain in constant radio contact with Dispatch in violation of Department General Order 1.04, A., 4. The sergeant was admonished
- Neglect of Duty – in violation of San Francisco Police Department Bulletin 12-088 and Vehicle Code section 40500 (a) an officer failed to provide an appearance date on a citation. The officer was admonished.
- Unwarranted Action and Unnecessary Force – A sergeant and officers engaged in an unlawful warrantless residential entry, unlawful arrests, and used unnecessary force when they entered the complainant's private residence in pursuit of an individual whom the sergeant and officers suspected of a homicide committed three weeks earlier. The entry into the complainant's home lacked both probable cause and an exigency. The sergeant and the officers violated Department General Orders 5.03, A. Reasonable Suspicion, 2.01, Maintaining Knowledge, 5.16, Obtaining Search Warrants and the Fourth Amendment of the United States Constitution. The sergeant was suspended and the officers were admonished.
- Neglect of Duty, Failure to Take Action and Conduct Unbecoming – During a bicycle theft sting, a sergeant and officers violated Department General Orders 7.01, Interactions with Juveniles, 5.20, Language Access, Rules of Conduct, 2.01, and 1.04, Duties of Sergeants, and state and federal law. The sergeant provided incomplete Miranda admonitions to the two juvenile suspects by failing to inform them that if they could not afford an attorney, one would be appointed free of charge before any questioning. The sergeant also failed to obtain a waiver that the juveniles understood and waived their Miranda rights. The sergeant failed to advise the juveniles' father that he could be present during the police questioning. The sergeant also told the 8-year old suspect he could be taken to jail which is contrary to Department General Order 7.01 that specifically requires children under the age of eleven suspected of criminal wrong-doing be brought to Child Protective Services. The Sergeant also failed to obtain an interpreter when conversing with the juveniles' mother. Finally, the sergeant failed to follow post-arrest procedures for a juvenile. Department General Order 7.01 establishes that officers should avoid bringing juveniles to the district station. DGO 7.01, Department Bulletin 10-220, and SFPD Form 531 instruct officers that upon the arrest of a juvenile, officers shall phone the probation officer at the Community Assessment and Referral Center (CARC) who will determine whether the juvenile should be booked at the Juvenile Justice Center, cited to CARC, or cited to Juvenile Court. The sergeant instead ordered the sergeant's subordinates to transport the juvenile to the district station. The sergeant also failed to supervise subordinates by failing to require them to comply with the Department's language access and juvenile protocols and misrepresenting the Department's policy concerning the arrested parent's right to choose the placement of her child.

An officer made inappropriate comments by misstating the Department's policy on placement of an arrested mother's child by threatening to have her four-year old sent to Child Protective Services instead of placing her in the custody of her father, who was neither a suspect nor present during the sting. An officer also failed to obtain an interpreter for the mother who was a Spanish speaker. An officer who was not certified to speak Spanish serviced as an interpreter in violation of Department policies and an officer failed to note in the incident report that the complainant's primary language was Spanish. The sergeant and officers were admonished.

- Neglect of Duty –In violation of Department General Order 6.15 an officer failed to process property properly by misplacing the complainant's identification card during the arrest and booking process. Once the officer received notice of the complaint, the officer located the card and returned it to the complainant. The complainant was without his identification card for almost seven weeks. The officer was admonished.

- Neglect of Duty – an officer failed to collect traffic stop data. The officer was suspended.¹⁴

During the third quarter, the Chief of Police adjudicated 5 cases as follows:

- Neglect of Duty – On two occasions an officer parked his vehicle in the designated bicycle lane in front of Fox Plaza when he was there on nonemergency Police Department business. The officer was admonished.
- Unwarranted Action and Neglect of Duty – A sergeant unlawfully detained and searched the complainant while the complainant was at a liquor store. While unlawfully searching the complainant, the sergeant removed the complainant's house key and walked the complainant to the complainant's house. The sergeant entered the complainant's house and conducted a probation search of an absent occupant's room. The sergeant and other officers seized items from the absent occupant's room but did not give the complainant a property receipt for the items seized from the absent occupant's room. The sergeant was suspended.
- Neglect of Duty – A sergeant violated DGO 1.04 by failing to contact the Department of Emergency Management (DEM) when he conducted a traffic stop. The sergeant also failed to collect traffic stop data. The sergeant received a written reprimand.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of DGO 2.04 section I. B., an officer failed to take the complainant's complaint and instead told the complainant, "...[he] could file it downtown." The officer was admonished.
- Conduct Reflecting Discredit – In violation of DGO 2.01 rules 9 and 14, an officer lost his temper, approached the complainant aggressively, yelled at the complainant, called the complainant a liar, and dared the complainant to take him on. The officer was admonished.

¹⁴ Previous offenses related to failure to collect traffic stop data by this officer resulted in Police Commission charges. The officer settled four cases (two included in the charges and two that were pending at the Chief's level) with the Police Commission. The Police Commission approved a settlement of 30-day suspension on August 1, 2012. This case involves the same type of violation but this new violation occurred after the imposition of discipline from the previous cases.

During the fourth quarter, the Chief of Police adjudicated 19 cases as follows:

- Neglect of Duty – In violation of San Francisco Police Department policy the officer failed to collect traffic stop data.
The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of San Francisco Police Department policy the officer failed to collect traffic stop data.
The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of San Francisco Police Department policy the officer failed to collect traffic stop data.
The officer was admonished.
- Unwarranted Action – In violation of Department Bulletin No. 12-158, Section II. Procedure, b. 2, a sergeant caused a car to be towed which was driven by an unlicensed driver even though the car's owner, a licensed driver, was sitting in the passenger seat and requested to drive the car. The sergeant received a written reprimand.
- Unnecessary Force – In violation of Department General Order No. 5.01, an officer used unnecessary force when attempting to take the complainant, a fleeing jaywalker, into custody by striking the complainant in the head twice with the suspect's gun which the suspect had tossed to the ground while attempting to flee.
The officer received a written reprimand.
- Discourtesy, Neglect of Duty, Unnecessary Force – In violation of Department General Order 2.01, Rule 14, an inspector used profane and uncivil language when addressing the complainants. In violation of Department General Order 5.08, the inspector who was in plain clothes neglected his duty to identify himself as a police officer while engaging in an enforcement action. In violation of Department General Order 5.01, the inspector used unnecessary force when detaining the complainants. The inspector was suspended.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of Department General Order 1.03, an officer failed to notify Communications Division and her immediate supervisor after leaving her assigned district to respond to an incident involving the complainant. The complainant originally filed a complaint about the incident in 2010, but withdrew it and refiled it in 2012. The one year statute of limitations for the imposition of discipline ran in 2011, but the Office of Citizen Complaints investigated the complaint for fact finding purposes. The case was classified Non-Sustained.

- Unwarranted Action, Conduct Reflecting Discredit and Neglect of Duty – During a traffic stop for failure to have license plates, an officer searched the trunk of the car without justification, was discourteous and disrespectful to the complainant and failed to collect traffic stop data in violation of San Francisco Police Department policy. The officer received a written reprimand.
- Conduct Reflecting Discredit – In violation of Department General Order 2.01, Rule 14, an officer who was the passenger in a marked patrol vehicle that was parked partially in the bicycle lane, yelled at the complainant, a cyclist, and used harsh and profane language. An independent witness, another cyclist, and co-complainant, corroborated that the behavior occurred. The officer denied the allegation and his partner said he did not hear what was said but he did see the officer approach the cyclist. Chief Suhr made a finding of insufficient evidence and no discipline was imposed.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of Department General Order 2.01, Rule 36, an officer failed to immediately broadcast ending mileage to the Department of Emergency Management when transporting a female prisoner. The officer was admonished.
- Unwarranted Action and Neglect of Duty– In violation of the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution an officer unlawfully searched the complainant’s car and unlawfully seized property from the car. In violation of Department General Order 6.15, the officer failed to properly process the seized property by refusing to provide the complainant a property receipt, instead attributing the property to the co-complainant and commingling the complainant’s property with the co-complainant’s property. The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – In violation of Department General Order 5.03, an officer failed to issue a certificate of release after handcuffing and releasing the complainant. The officer was admonished.
- Conduct Reflecting Discredit – In violation of Department General Order Rules 14 and 9, an officer was aggressive and demeaning to a man having a nonviolent psychiatric emergency. The officer was admonished.
- Neglect of Duty – An officer failed to collect traffic stop data. The officer was admonished and retrained.

- Neglect of Duty – An officer provided incorrect landlord/tenant advice to a landlord by telling her she could lock out a tenant. The officer was admonished and retrained.
- Neglect of Duty – When issuing a citation to the complainant, an officer violated Department General Order 5.20 because the officer failed to recognize that the complainant was limited English proficient who needed language assistance. The case was closed with no finding because the officer is now retired.
- Neglect of Duty – An officer violated Department General Order 5.20 when he failed to obtain language assistance for the complainant who had been burglarized. The officer was admonished and retrained.
- Neglect of Duty – An officer failed to collect traffic stop data. The officer received a written reprimand.
- Neglect of Duty – An officer failed to collect traffic stop data. The officer was admonished.

XV. DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS STATUS OF CURRENT OCC CASES – THE ‘KEANE’ REPORT

By the end of 2013, the OCC closed 99% of its 2012 cases. In 2013, 84% of OCC’s cases were closed within 270 days compared to 78% in 2012. Of particular note, however, 99% of cases closed in 2013 were closed within a year of filing which is similar to 98% in 2010. (See Appendix A page 51.) The seven cases that were older than one year were either tolled by the statute of limitations or had no sustainable allegations.

XVI. CASELOAD MANAGEMENT

The average caseload of 21 cases per investigator as of December 31, 2013 was the same as 2012. As of December 31, 2013, the highest caseload was 24 cases and the lowest was 14 cases. (See Appendix A pages 119 and 120.) To help manage the caseloads of the journey level investigators, the senior investigators continued monthly case reviews, monitoring caseloads and assuming investigative responsibility in selected cases. The caseloads are still higher than the best practices caseload of 16 cases per investigator as recommend in the San Francisco Controller’s 2007 audit report on the OCC’s operations.

XVII. LEGAL UNIT

In 2013, the OCC's Legal Unit consisted of four attorney positions: one supervising trial attorney, one full-time trial attorney, one full-time attorney policy analyst, and one part-time attorney mediation coordinator. During the year, the Legal Unit continued to provide legal opinions and analyses as needed. It also continued to conduct sustainability reviews, to review sustained reports for merit, form and legality, and to edit them as needed.

One of the primary duties of the legal unit is to present misconduct cases to the Police Chief when officers object to proposed discipline of 10-days suspension or less. The Legal Unit prosecutes and tries cases involving suspensions beyond 10-days up through termination before the Police Commission, as these cases are under the exclusive authority of the Police Commission under the City Charter.

In 2013, the Legal Unit continued to review, prioritize, and adjudicate cases pending at both the Chief's and the Police Commission's levels and to ensure that newly filed cases moved at a timely pace.

During 2013, the Legal Unit prosecuted eight cases. Of these, five cases against five officers were prosecuted at the Chief's Hearing level. All five cases resulted in the upholding of the proposed disciplines. Two of these were later appealed to the Police Commission.

Of the eight cases mentioned above, the Legal Unit prosecuted three cases before the Police Commission against three officers:

- One case involving an officer with pending Police Commission charges did not go to hearing, as it was settled at the Settlement Conference stage and the settlement was approved by the Police Commission.
- The two remaining cases were appeals from Chief's Hearings and the discipline imposed there involved two officers and two separate incidents. Both cases went to settlement conference where the OCC advocated for minimal or no reduction of discipline. In both cases, the officers voluntarily withdrew their appeal, which the Police Commission approved.

As part of their duties, the Legal Unit's attorneys also review and edit sustained reports after a matter has been investigated and one or more allegations are deemed sustainable. During 2013, the Legal Unit reviewed, revised, and submitted forty-three (43) sustained reports, each of which involved one or more allegations against one or more officers.

XVIII. POLICY ANALYSIS

Policy work is an essential aspect of the OCC's mission. While individual discipline is an essential component of law enforcement management, changes to police policies and practices directly impact the entire police force and the community it serves. By comparison, OCC sustained findings in 2013 directly impacted 48 officers or two (2) percent of the police department's 2126 sworn officers.

The San Francisco City Charter requires the OCC to present quarterly recommendations concerning SFPD's policies or practices that enhance police-community relations while ensuring effective police services. (Summaries of OCC Policy Recommendations are found in Appendix, pages 46-50.) Attorney and policy analyst Samara Marion leads the agency's policy work. In 2013, the OCC made recommendations that addressed a variety of law enforcement practices including pursuits, use of force reporting and investigation procedures, language access, children of arrested parents procedures, and police response to mental health crisis calls.

In 2013, the OCC made policy recommendations to increase the purview of the officer-involved shooting review process and to enhance SFPD's response to mental health crisis calls. The OCC suggested the following reforms:

- Amend Department General Order 3.10 to include the officer-in-charge of the Department's Training Division as an advisory member of the Firearm Discharge Review Board.
- Amend Department General Order 3.10 to include more specific use of force finding categories including training failure, policy failure, supervision failure, tactical debrief and administrative disapproval.
- Require a sergeant or officer of higher rank to respond to any call involving an armed subject. Develop a protocol with the Department of Emergency Management so that dispatchers immediately notify a sergeant or officer of higher rank when the dispatch receives a call concerning an armed subject.
- Develop with the Department of Emergency Management (DEM) a list of questions dispatchers will ask to determine whether the call involves an individual with a mental illness and to obtain key information about the individual's mental illness.
- Revise Department General Orders 6.14, 8.02, 8.01 to establish written protocols for the Department's Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) program, including its procedures for training and dispatching CIT officers as first responders to mental health crisis calls and the Department's philosophy and procedures for handling encounters with mentally ill persons in crisis.

- Implement the Department's 2011 obligation to design a data collection system to review and evaluate mental health crisis calls and SFPD's responses to such incidents.

These reforms supplemented the OCC's 2012 recommendations that the Department's Training Division provide a written analysis in each officer-involved shooting and discharge case for consideration by the Firearms Discharge Review Board. The OCC proposes that the training division evaluate from the moment of the officer's deployment to the conclusion of the incident, the tactics/decision-making, drawing or exhibiting a firearm, and use of force in the incident. This analysis would explain how officers are trained with respect to the tactical issues that are presented in the incident, evaluate whether the officer(s) performed consistent with training, and make recommendations concerning the training needs of the involved officers and/or the Department in general. The analysis would also evaluate the officer's actions preceding the issue of force to review whether the officer's conduct contributed to the need to use deadly force. These recommendations are still pending with the Department.

For several years, the OCC has advocated for a revised pursuit policy that more clearly defined the roles and decision-making authority of officers in a pursuit. On June 26, 2013 the Police Commission unanimously adopted revisions to Department General Order 5.05, the Department's pursuit policy. The OCC's proposed revisions to the Department's pursuit policy placed more decision-making authority in the hands of the pursuit supervisor and are important features of the revised policy.

Since 2012, the OCC recommended that the Department treat complaints of pain similar to complaints of injury for the reporting and investigation of force incidents. The OCC had investigated complaints in which the officers' use of force resulted in pain but not a visible injury (i.e. the complainant's fractured wrist or injured shoulder was not visible to the naked eye though the complainants complained of pain.) In April 2013, the Police Department issued Department Bulletin 13-067, "Use of Force Options: Reporting and Medical Assessment Requirements." This Department Bulletin implements the OCC's recommendation that the Department's use of force reporting and investigation procedures should include incidents when an individual complains of pain that persists beyond the officer's original physical control hold.

Following the adoption of Department General Order 5.20, Language Access Services for Limited English Proficient (LEP) Persons in 2007, the OCC has continued its policy work to strengthen the Police Department's language services. Throughout 2013, the OCC met monthly with domestic violence and sexual assault service providers, language access advocates, city agencies, and the Police Department. The OCC initiated several projects to address community concerns that language barriers continue to compromise the accuracy of incident reports and the quality of police assistance. Throughout the year, the OCC worked closely with SFPD and community advocates to produce an officer training video entitled “Detecting and Overcoming Language Barriers.” Using a domestic violence incident involving a Spanish-speaking victim and an elder-abuse incident involving Cantonese-speakers, this training video will assist officers in identifying when language services are needed.

For many years the OCC has also advocated for a communications system that would enable 911 dispatchers to immediately identify the location and availability of bilingual officers to respond to LEP calls for service. The OCC researched communication systems and met with numerous staff from SFPD and the Department of Emergency Management (DEM) to explore how to incorporate this capability. During the first quarter of 2013, SFPD provided the Department of Emergency Management the necessary data to identify officers with specialized skills such as bilingual abilities, Crisis Intervention Team training, and Hostage and Negotiation Team certification. In April 2013, following the training of all 911 dispatchers, this new feature became operational. With this new capability, now when an LEP reportee or SFPD officer needs language assistance, dispatchers can identify immediately whether a bilingual officer is available or whether language assistance should be requested through a telephone interpreter.

And last, the OCC’s work regarding children of arrested parents culminated in the Department’s issuance of Department Bulletin 13-251. This Department Bulletin sets forth police procedures to ensure the care and safety of children when their parent is arrested. The OCC is continuing its work with the Department to institutionalize these important procedures in a Department General Order.

By working with community stakeholders, city agencies and the Police Department on a wide range of projects throughout 2013, the OCC advanced its policy work to enhance police-community relations while ensuring effective police services.

XIX. MEDIATIONS

The OCC’s mediation program provides officers and civilians a unique opportunity for dispute resolution in certain types of complaints. In 2013, the OCC mediated 59 cases. This number represents 8% of the total number of complaints closed in 2013—a small decrease in the number of mediations conducted in 2012 when 62 mediations were conducted but it is consistent with the percentage of complaints mediated in past years.

The mediation program creates a forum for officers and civilians to have a frank discussion regarding the complaint and serves as an educational experience for all participants. In addition to the non-confrontational opportunity for dispute resolution, the mediation program provides the following unique benefits, which are unavailable under the investigative process:

Time savings.

Mediation allows cases to be processed expeditiously. In 2013, mediated cases were open a median of 86 days and an average of 99 days while all cases (including mediations) were open a median of 151 days and an average of 156 days.

Cost savings.

Cases are mediated by a current roster of over 160 volunteer mediators who conduct mediations without charge. Additionally, mediated cases relieve the investigators from additional casework. The 59 cases mediated in 2013 equal a full-time investigator's annual caseload.

Greater Satisfaction for Complainants and Officers

In the voluntary and anonymous exit survey that is set forth below, 94% of the participants were satisfied or very satisfied with the mediation program. This represents a 6% increase in the satisfaction rate over 2012.

The following responses were received in the OCC mediation exit survey during 2013:

Rating of participant's experience with the mediation process:

40% - very satisfied
54% - satisfied
5% - dissatisfied.

Whether the mediation location provided a safe environment to freely express concerns and issues:

96% - yes
4% - no

Percentage of mediation participants who felt they had the opportunity to be heard and express their thoughts:

97% -yes
3% -no

Percentage of participants who felt that the other party fully participated in the mediation:

91% - yes
9% - no

Percentage of participants who felt that the mediators accurately identified and addressed the core issues of the complaint:

95% - yes
5% - no

Percentage of participants who felt that the complaint was totally resolved at the mediation:

Totally resolved – 55%
Partially resolved – 33%
Not resolved at all – 12%

Two examples of successful mediations follow:

Example #1

The Complainant is a recent immigrant to the United States and English is his second language. He purchased a vehicle on a Saturday. On Monday he was driving on Highway 101 near 9th Street when a patrol car turned on the lights and sirens. Because the Complainant did not think he could stop on the highway, he exited and the patrol car followed. When he was on the city street, there was a fire hydrant and a bus zone so he drove on and parked in the next block. A female officer exited the patrol car and asked the Complainant for his license, registration, and proof of insurance. The Complainant provided her with the license and registration and explained to the officer that he was going to take care of the insurance that day. He was cited for not having insurance and the officer sternly told him he needed to pull over immediately when a patrol car turns on the lights and sirens.

At the mediation, the officer explained the law regarding insurance and told the Complainant he should have arranged for insurance before driving the vehicle. The officer and Complainant also discussed the protocol for pulling off the road when stopped by law enforcement. The Complainant subsequently sent a letter to the OCC thanking the agency for arranging the meeting with “professionalism and kindness.” His letter continued on to voice his gratitude to the officer and his respect for the City that provides such service.

The Complainant is a street musician that regularly plays in the Haight/Ashbury District. The Complainant reported that several officers from Park Station had suddenly started to harass him and make him move his performances to another location.

A Sergeant from Park Station represented the Department in this mediation, as the complaint was not about the conduct of a specific officer. The Sergeant told the complainant that one business in the area had changed ownership and the new merchant was calling the station to complain about the complainant's performances. The sergeant explained the department's policies and discussed locations where the complainant might be able to play without incurring complaints from the merchant.

In March 2013, the OCC Mediation Coordinator was awarded the Association for Dispute Resolution's Presidents Award at their Annual Conference. In August 2013, the San Francisco Giants, Alternative Dispute Resolution of Northern California, Community Boards and the San Francisco Police Officers Association sponsored an event at a Giant's game honoring Bay Area Volunteer Mediation Programs. The Mediation Coordinator represented the Program at a ceremony at home plate.

The effectiveness of the OCC's mediation program is acknowledged well beyond the officers and complainants who participate in it. In an annual survey of civilian oversight mediation programs,¹⁵ the OCC Mediation Program has consistently rated one of the highest number of mediations per sworn officer in the United States.

At the National Association of Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement's Annual Conference in Salt Lake City, the Mediation Coordinator participated in a panel on police/civilian mediation programs. Because of the program's success, the OCC's Mediation Coordinator is often contacted by other civilian oversight agencies from throughout the nation. For example, in 2013, representatives from the Los Angeles, New Orleans, the Bay Area Rapid Transit Police, Kirkwood, Missouri, and Greensboro, North Carolina, conferred with the OCC about its mediation program.

In addition to administering the OCC's mediation program, this year the mediation coordinator attended the Alternative Dispute Resolution of Northern California Conference, Community Boards trainings, and mediation trainings at UC Berkeley to promote the program among mediators and community members. The Coordinator also represented the mediation program at numerous local events including the Community Boards Peacemaker Awards, and the Peninsula Conflict Resolution Annual Awards Luncheon. As a result of these community outreach efforts, the mediation coordinator provided orientations for seventeen new mediators enlarging our pool of mediators to increase our mediation capacity.

The mediation program continues to be an effective educational tool for officers and complainants alike. The eligible officer participation rate was 88% and 42% of complainants offered mediation agreed to participate. Of the officers who declined to meet, 73% cited their experience with the specific complainant as the reason for declining. In 2014, the OCC will continue to promote the mediation program and intends to increase the number of appropriate cases that can be resolved through dispute resolution.

XX. OUTREACH

Since 2008, the OCC has followed its annual Community Outreach Strategic Plan which outlines its outreach goals in the areas of community presentations and partnerships, language access, training, website development, media relations, and program effectiveness and resources. By using a community-based approach that relies upon presentations, widely distributed written materials in multiple languages, and the OCC website, the OCC's Outreach Strategic Plan provided a roadmap for strengthening its relationships with communities which historically and statistically were likely to have encounters with the police. The OCC's Community Outreach Strategic Plan also sought to reach communities that have been racially, culturally or linguistically isolated from police services. Despite significant staffing shortages, the OCC has successfully implemented this ambitious outreach strategy.

In 2013, the OCC worked in coalition with representatives of numerous legal and community groups such as Asian Americans Advancing Justice—Asian Law Caucus, Asian Pacific Islander Legal Outreach, Community United Against Violence, the Domestic Violence Consortium, San Francisco Youth Commission and the San Francisco Children of Incarcerated Parents Partnership, to name a few.

In addition to its work investigating complaints, the OCC continued its efforts to inform members of the Department and community about the OCC's services and procedures. OCC representatives made presentations to Police Academy classes at the beginning and end of their training, and at Police Commission community meetings held in the Bayview, Northern, Mission, Ingleside, Central, Sunset, Western Addition, and Northern Districts. In January and February, Director Hicks and Staff Attorneys Marion and Fortes attended community meetings in the Taraval, Northern and Bayview Districts regarding the proposed use of Tasers. Director Hicks also attended a community meeting convened by the BART Independent Police Auditor.

OCC staff gave presentations to other community and student organizations throughout the year. Director Hicks participated on a Cal Alumni Association panel on “Careers That Matter.” at UC Berkeley. She also participated in a U.C. Berkeley School of Law, Boalt Hall, Women of Color Collective networking event where she discussed the role of civilian oversight of law enforcement and OCC services. OCC staff also made a presentation to the Center for Juvenile and Criminal Justice.

Mediation Coordinator Donna Salazar promoted the OCC’s program and services at several events. She addressed two mediation classes at UC Berkeley Extension and the Community Boards. She also represented the OCC’s mediation program at the Community Peacemaker Awards Luncheon as well as an event sponsored by the Peninsula Conflict Resolution Services.

OCC Attorney Marion attended ongoing meetings with the San Francisco Youth Commission and the Language Access Working Group. She also provided an in-house training on Fourth Amendment issues for OCC investigators.

In August, Director Hicks, who sits on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE), hosted an event for Bay Area representatives of oversight agencies that included members of the San Francisco Police Commission.

In September, Director Hicks led an OCC delegation including the Deputy Director, investigators, and staff attorneys at the NACOLE Annual Training Conference in Salt Lake City. At the conference, Director Hicks moderated two panels. Staff Attorney Marion developed and co-presented a session on “Analyzing Officer-Involved Shootings and Other Critical Incidents through a Policy Lens.” Staff Attorney Salazar co-presented a session on “Mediating Citizen-Police Complaints.” NACOLE Board Member and OCC Investigator Jayson Wechter developed and co-presented a session on planning and prioritizing an investigation; he also moderated two other panels.

In October, Director Hicks attended a community meeting hosted by Reverend Amos Brown at the Third Baptist Church. In November, Director Hicks was a panelist at a UC Berkeley event where she discussed careers in civilian oversight of law enforcement. In November, Attorney Marion made a presentation to the Office of Civil Engagement and Immigrant Affairs’ language access grantees about the OCC’s services and the language access projects the OCC has been working on with the Police Department, domestic violence service providers, and other language access advocates. Ms. Marion also provided a presentation to members of the San Francisco Children of Incarcerated Parent’s Partnership about the OCC’s services and its policy work.

In November, Director Hicks was interviewed by the Portland Tribune and quoted extensively in an article comparing the powers of the Portland civilian oversight agency to San Francisco's Office of Citizen Complaints and the Los Angeles Police Commission's Office of Inspector General.

In 2013, OCC staffed tables at five Operation Homeless Connect events in the Civic Center area, as well the Bayview Connect, the LGBTQ Connect, the Bayview/Hunters Point Back to School Celebration, the Western Addition Back to School Celebration, Mayor's Office of Youth, Children, and Family's Summer Resource

XXI. CLERICAL UNIT

In 2013, the OCC Clerical Unit, supervised by Principal Clerk, Linda Taylor, and staffed by three clerk typists and two senior clerk typists, received and input 727 complaints in the database, typed the disposition letters and updated the database for 722 closed cases.

The OCC received the following document requests:

- 207 requests to process Pitchess Motions involving 742 San Francisco Police Department members.
- 122 PIP requests from the Police Department for information under the Performance Improvement Program (DGO3.18) involving 331 San Francisco Police Department members.
- 42 document requests for Investigative Hearings from a combination of POLICE DEPARTMENT officers and complainants.
- 37 document requests from the Office of the City Attorney.
- 11 requests from the various federal courts.
- 1 request from the Public Defender.

In response to requests, the OCC mailed 67 complaint forms. OCC's customer satisfaction surveys were mailed to officers and complainants in 578 cases in 2013. The OCC paid $7,632 in off-site storage costs for documents filed and documents retrieved in 2013. This represents a 25% increase over last year's $6,100 storage and retrieval costs.

XXII. INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY UNIT

The Information Technology unit supports all aspects of the OCC's work. With minimal help, Chris Wisniewski, the OCC's Information Services Business Analyst ("IS Business Analyst") builds and maintains all of OCC's hardware, software, communications, database, intranet, website and external reporting systems. In 2013, these systems remained stable and reliable with no data loss or serious incidents of downtime or disruption to staff.

Outside of the day-to-day cycle of administration, support, maintenance, and troubleshooting Mr. Wisniewski completed development, deployed and refined the "Auto-prompt" system, a complex system that leverages static data in OCC systems to automatically deliver prompts as cases near deadlines. Investigators and their supervisors are now met with updated alerts and countdowns to approaching milestones upon login to their PC every day. In 2014, he will add a module to deliver reminders periodically throughout the workday. Staff's reaction to "Auto-prompt" was positive and number of cases needing reminders just weeks since the system's initial release was halved.

Second, throughout the year, the IS Business Analyst shepherded the OCC's Online Complaint Form/Application project from completed design through secure hosting with the Department of Technology, installation troubleshooting, compatibility testing, user interface improvements and negotiation with an outside developer. At the year's close one outstanding navigation issue needed resolution before the complaint form could be released. The developer and the IS Business Analyst anticipated resolution by June 20, 2014.

Other tasks performed including assisting investigators with matters involving Muni's closed circuit system, ATMs, smartphones, the internet, and other forms of audio/visual evidence. The IS Business Analyst set up phones, various accounts and trained investigators and other staff on OCC systems.

The IS Business Analyst also produced several special reports including those based on recently revised Department General Orders 5.20 (Language Access Services). He also provides quarterly statistics for the Document Protocol Report for the Police Commission and he produced statistics for all monthly reports, quarterly reports and this annual report for 2013.

XXIII. PERFORMANCE MEASURES

Performance measures are a part of the OCC's annual budget. The budget is adopted on a fiscal year that runs from July 1 through June 30. The performance measure data is adjusted to a calendar year basis for the purposes of this report. The statistics below are based on the calendar year 2013 and the targets have been adjusted to the targets and projected numbers for two fiscal half years, i.e., the latter half of fiscal year 2012/2013 (January 1 through June 30, 2012) and the first half of fiscal year 2013/2014 (July 1 through December 31, 2013).

1. Goal 1 - Address civilian complaints of police misconduct professionally and efficiently

a. Measure No. 1 – Number of cases closed during the reporting period.

To close as many or more cases than the number of new complaints filed annually and to adequately address the agency's backlog, OCC investigators were required to close 4 or more cases per month. The target for 2013 was 792 based on 17 budgeted OCC investigators. The actual number of cases closed from January 1 through December 31, 2013 was 722.

While the OCC was budgeted for 17 OCC investigators, the OCC operated with only 15 investigators due to vacancies. Of the 15 investigators, one investigator was on family leave all of 2013 and another investigator was appointed to an acting senior investigator position supervising a team of five investigators. Consequently, the OCC was unable to meet its target of 792.

b. Measure No. 2 – Number of complaints closed during the year per FTE investigator.

To close as many or more cases than the number of new complaints filed annually and to adequately address the agency's backlog, OCC investigators were required to close four or more cases per month. The target for 2013 was set at 48 cases per year per FTE investigator. The actual number of cases closed per FTE investigator from January 1 through December 31, 2013 was 49, exceeding OCC's target of 48. Proper case management, along with full investigative staffing, helps to ensure that investigators close an average of four or more cases per month.

c. Measure No. 3 – Number of cases sustained during the reporting period.

This performance measure identifies the number of completed investigations that contained at least one sustained allegation. There was no target or projection because such a target could give the impression that the agency's mission is to find misconduct where there is none. However, the measurement was used to comparatively evaluate agency workload and performance, as well as to evaluate caseload management. The number of sustained cases from January 1 through December 31, 2012 was 43 or a 6% sustained rate.

- d. Measure No. 4 – Percentage of sustained cases completed within the one-year statute of limitations under government code 3304.

Section 3304 of the California Government Code dictates that all investigations of police misconduct should be completed within one calendar year. The OCC has put into place mechanisms to track cases throughout the investigative process and to identify potentially sustainable cases early in the investigation. Proper case management, along with full investigative staffing, ensures that all cases are fully investigated within the limits imposed by Section 3304 of the California Government Code. The percentage of cases completed within the one-year statute of limitations from January 1 through December 31, 2013 was 99%.

Of the 43 cases that were sustained in 2013, 42 cases were sent to the Department within Government Code section 3304's one-year statute of limitation period or other time specified by Government Code section 3304. The one case that was not sent to the Department within Government Code section 3304's one-year statute of limitation period or other time specified by Government Code section 3304 was a case that was originally withdrawn by the complainant in 2010 and was refiled in 2012 pursuant to the complainant's request. Although the refiled case was investigated within one year, discipline could not be imposed because the original complaint was filed in 2010.

- e. Measure No. 5 – Percentage of sustained cases that resulted in corrective or disciplinary action by the Chief or Police Commission.

Ninety-one percent of sustained cases resulted in corrective or disciplinary action in 2013. The target was 90% and the projected was 90%. Improved communication and discussion between the OCC and the Police Department may facilitate consistent findings.

- f. Measure No. 6 – Number of cases mediated during the reporting period.

The OCC's goal was to mediate five cases per month or 60 cases per year. In 2013, the OCC mediated 59 cases, 98% of the target.

2. Goal 2 - Facilitate corrective action in response to complaints

- a. Measure No. 1 – Number of findings of policy, procedure, or practice failure identified in the OCC caseload during the reporting period.

The OCC did not provide a target for the number of policy, procedure and/or practice failures in the OCC caseload because such a target could give the impression that the agency's mission is to find a particular number of policy, procedure and/or practice failures where there may be none. The OCC's goal was to make policy, procedure and/or practice recommendations that address the policy, procedure and/or practice failures identified in the OCC's cases. In 2013, the OCC identified nine policy failure findings in the OCC's caseload.

- b. Measure No. 2 – Number of policy, procedure, and practice findings presented to the Police Department or the Police Commission.

The OCC presented 17 policy, procedure, and practice findings in 2013. The OCC did not provide a target for these findings because a target could give the impression that the agency's mission is to find a particular number of policies, procedure, practice recommendations where there may be none. The OCC's goal was to make policy, procedure and/or practice recommendations that addressed the policy, procedure and/or practice failures identified in the OCC's cases.

The policies, procedures and practice recommendations presented to the Police Commission and/or the Police Department during the measurement period were not necessarily the same ones that were identified in the OCC caseload during the measurement period because of the agency's prioritization of policy issues and the agency's need to provide recommendations in response to policy issues raised by either the Police Commission or the Police Department. In addition, the OCC continued its work to implement and monitor prior policy recommendations made to the Police Department.

XXIV. CONCLUSION

In spite of severe staffing challenges, OCC staff substantially met and in one instance exceeded its performance measure targets. Staff has continued to decrease the number of days to close cases resulting in the second lowest number of pending cases in eleven years. The OCC's mediation program remains a national model and the OCC's innovative outreach program continues to reach the underserved. The OCC's policy work continues to provide the Police Department with recommendations on practices that will enhance community and police interactions. While City budget constraints continue to hamper hiring additional investigators, the decrease in complaint filings has served to provide the investigators caseloads that are more manageable. The OCC remains committed to promptly, fairly, and impartially investigate complaints against San Francisco police officers and to make policy recommendations concerning police practices.

POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS 2013

Case No.	Type of Allegation	Policy Recommendation
1.	Use of Force	In an officer-involved shooting involving an individual who was mentally ill and in crisis, the OCC made the following six training and policy recommendations¹: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Amend Department General Order 3.10 to include the office-in-charge of the Department's Training Division as an advisory member of the Firearm Discharge Review Board. 2. Amend Department General Order 3.10 to include more specific use of force finding categories including training failure, policy failure, supervision failure, tactical debrief and administrative disapproval. 3. Require a sergeant or officer of higher rank to respond to any call involving an armed subject. Develop a protocol with the Department of Emergency Management so that dispatchers immediately notify a sergeant or officer of higher rank when the dispatch receives a call concerning an armed subject. 4. Develop with the Department of Emergency Management (DEM) a list of questions dispatchers will ask to determine whether the call involves an individual with a mental illness and to obtain key information about the individual's mental illness. 5. Revise Department General Orders 6.14, 8.02, 8.01 to establish written protocols for the Department's Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) program, including its procedures for training and dispatching CIT officers as first responders to mental health crisis calls and the Department's philosophy and procedures for handling encounters with mentally ill persons in crisis. 6. Implement the Department's 2011 obligation to design a data collection system to review and evaluate mental health crisis calls and SFPD's responses to such incidents.

¹ These policy proposals supplement the use of force and mental health crisis call recommendations that the OCC made in December 2012.

POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS 2013

Case No.	Type of Allegation	Policy Recommendation
2.	Failure to Take Required Action	The complainant requested that her husband be permitted to take their four-year old child from the scene while she and her older children were under police investigation. Department Bulletin 11-110 (06/02/11) Children of Arrested Parents establishes that children of an arrested parent shall be placed with the non-arrested parent unless there is compelling evidence to the contrary. The Department Bulletin does not specify when and who should contact the non-arrested parent. It also does not address detentions in which parents are accompanied by children. The OCC recommends that the Children of Arrested Parents' Department Bulletin be converted into a Department General Order, that it specify the procedures for contacting the non-arrested parent, and that in addition to arrests, these procedures be used for detentions of parents who are accompanied by children when the detention lasts 30 minutes or longer.
3.	Failure to Take Required Action	The police responded to an incident in which a suspect punched the complainant in retaliation for the complainant calling 911 to report the perpetrator's physical assault on a victim the complainant was witnessing. The responding officers, who were from a different district, wrote an incident report that was forwarded to the correct district where the incident occurred. Although the complainant called the Department to follow up on the investigation, he did not hear back from the Department. The investigation established that because of inadequate tracking procedures, the case was not reassigned to a new investigative team. The investigation also established that there are not procedures in place to ensure that stations or details are not simultaneously investigating the same case. Although the Crime Data Warehouse will reportedly resolve these problems at some future time, the OCC recommends that the Department immediately institute a tracking procedure to ensure that cases transferred from one district station investigative team to another district station investigative team are reassigned to specific individuals who become responsible for their investigation and closure.

POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS 2013

Case No.	Type of Allegation	Policy Recommendation
4.	Neglect of Duty	An officer detained a ten-year old child who was wearing clothing similar to a robbery suspect and was in close proximity to where the robbery suspect had fled. Upon grabbing the child's shoulder, and the child turning around, the officer realized the child was not the suspect. The officer apologized and continued searching for the suspect. The child was alone and had stepped outside from an afterschool program when the officer detained her. The child was frightened by the detention and did not understand why the officer had stopped her. Department Bulletin 12-190 (08/30/12) discusses the importance of officers communicating with juveniles and breaking down the barriers between police and juveniles. However, for detentions that do not require a Certificate of Release or the preparation of an incident report, there are no current procedures requiring an officer to contact a juvenile's parent or guardian to inform them their child was detained and to discuss the nature of the police interaction. The OCC recommends enhancing Department General Order 7.01 to include this notification.
5.	Neglect of Duty	When the complainant, a San Francisco resident, had her car stolen, she provided both her work and cellular telephone numbers to the officer who took the report. The reporting officer incorrectly wrote the complainant's cellular telephone number's area code in her report. When the complainant's car was subsequently recovered, dispatch was unable to contact the complainant. The complainant's car was towed, causing the complainant to incur storage fees. Several days later the complainant's insurance company notified her that SFPD had recovered her vehicle. The complainant provided SFPD a written request for Supervisor's Review of Towing and Refund of Tow Fees that explained the officer had incorrectly written the complainant's cell number in the incident report and requested waiver of the tow and storage fees in light of the officer's error. The SFPD denied the complainant's request for waiver of the tow and storage fees. The complainant filed a civil claim with the City's Controller's Office and was ultimately reimbursed for the tow and storage fees. The OCC recommends that SFPD's rules concerning supervisor's review of towing and refund of tow fees be reviewed to determine whether SFPD has the discretion to refund tow fees in circumstances such as in the instant case and if so, to amend the rules in accordance with this discretion.

Case No.	Type of Allegation	Policy Recommendation
6.	Conduct Reflecting Discredit	The complainant stated that the officer took her report of a sexual assault on the steps in front of the Hall of Justice. The officer stated that he took the complainant's sexual assault report in front of the building in an effort to provide her with privacy since the lobby was busy and the complainant would have normally been required to provide her statement through a glass window over a telephone. The department does not have any written policy, rule, manual, unit order or other department orders that explicitly outline where to conduct a sexual assault interview. The OCC recommends a written policy to address the interview of sexual assault victims (and other victims where confidentiality and privacy are necessary.) Concerning on-going revisions to Department General Order 6.09 (Domestic Violence), the OCC recommends that this DGO outline the Department's procedure for interviewing domestic violence victims, including that victims be interviewed in private.
7.	Neglect of Duty	The complainant alleged that the officer refused to take his report of a crime. The officer was on a 10-B assignment at the time. Policies and procedures pertaining to 10-B assignments are unclear about an officer's responsibility to take a report when it would require the 10-B officer to leave the assignment. The OCC recommends that the Department's 10-B manual be revised to instruct 10-B officers that they are to take appropriate action to control any crime in progress they may view, notify dispatch of the need for a responding unit, and that the responding unit is responsible for all aspects of investigation, including the incident report.
8.	None	Responding to on-going concerns that Limited English Proficient (LEP) individuals were having difficulties obtaining language services from public safety aides (PSA) and officers at a district station, the OCC recommended that a unit order be issued that stated that DGO 5.20 requires officers and PSAs to provide language assistance whenever they encounter a LEP individual OR a LEP individual requests language assistance. The OCC further suggested that the unit order inform PSAs and officers that they are to obtain language services by obtaining a qualified bilingual officer or qualified civilian interpreter; if none is available, they are to use language line (including the language line phone number and SFPD ID number.)

Case No.	Type of Allegation	Policy Recommendation
9.	Neglect of Duty	During an incident involving plainclothes officers from a specialized unit, an individual in the crowd assaulted one of the officers. This individual was taken into custody and was injured during the incident. The assaulted officer used pepper spray in self-defense against the advancing crowd. The assaulted officer reported the incident to his supervisor. The supervisory officer entered the incident in the Use of Force Logbook maintained by the district station that is located in the same building where the officer's specialized enforcement unit is housed. Department General Order 5.01 states that "[e]very unit of the Department whose officers normally perform street duty (e.g., district stations, Narcotics, Vice Crimes, Traffic, Special Operations Division, etc.) shall maintain a Use of Force Log (SFPD 128). To comply with DGO 5.01 and to enhance data collection concerning use of force, the OCC recommends that the Department issue a Department Bulletin that requires all specialized units that perform street duty to maintain their own Use of Force Log.
10.	Neglect of Duty	During an incident involving the arrest of a juvenile, the named officer did not document in the district station's juvenile log the time of the phone calls that he had been unable to reach the mother during the first call and whether he called within 30 minutes of the first call as required by DGO 7.01. Currently, the Department's Juvenile Detention Log (Form 472) does not include a place to write in who notified the juvenile's parent, what time, and if the parents were not reached, what follow-up calls were made as required by DGO 7.01. The OCC recommends that the juvenile detention logs be revised to comply with DGO 7.01's documentation requirements.
11.	None	The OCC recommends that SFUSD-SFPD's MOU include that SFUSD's Restorative Practices Task Force inform parents/guardians, students and staff that in addition to filing a complaint with SFUSD's Restorative Practices Task Force, they can file a complaint with the Office of Citizen Complaints concerning police misconduct involving SFPD officers.
12.	Neglect of Duty	The officer did not document the vehicle search that occurred at the time of the probationer's arrest in her incident report. The Department's subject matter expert on report writing stated that documenting a vehicle search conducted during an arrest would not be required if nothing was seized, and the vehicle was neither damaged or towed. The Department's expert also said that while it was not required, it would be "best practices." To comply with best practice standards, the OCC recommends that the Department amend its report writing manual and training to require officers to document any search or seizure of an individual's car, home, or personal property, even when no contraband or evidence is seized or the item searched is not damaged.
