RfQ#APD2022-01 Electronic Monitoring System Solution ADDENDUM #2

2) Section 2.II (“Expected Capacity Need of Electronic Monitoring Devices”) of the Solicitation currently reads as follows:

2. ELECTRONIC MONITORING SYSTEM SOLUTION REQUIRMENTS AND CAPABILITES

The overview described below is intended as a general guide to the work SFAPD (“City”) expects to be performed, and is not a complete listing of all services that may be required or desired.

To minimize duplication of effort and to allow the City to coordinate data requests and data available for previous and future survey projects, the selected ~~Contractor’s Lessor’s~~ findings and data gathered may be shared by the City with other City Grantees or Contractors, as deemed appropriate by the City.

I. OVERVIEW OF ELECTRONIC MONITORING

Electronic Monitoring is considered a general term referring to forms of surveillance with which to monitor the location, movement, and specific behavior (e.g., alcohol consumption) of ~~justice~~ involved persons through the use of an electronic monitoring device.

Electronic Monitoring equipment provides continuous signaling or active electronic monitoring of participants. Typically Electronic Monitoring equipment has three essential parts:

- a) a transmitter,
- b) a receiver/dialer, and
- c) a central computer with corresponding electronic monitoring software.

The transmitter is strapped to the participant and broadcasts a coded signal over a telephone line at regular intervals. The receiver/dialer picks up signals from the participant’s transmitter and reports to a central computer when the signals stop and start. Using a specific software program, the computer compares any signal interruptions with the participant’s curfew schedule (inconsistent, pre-determined movement or geographical locations) and alerts public safety officials to unauthorized absences.

II. EXPECTED CAPACITY NEED OF ELECTRONIC MONITORING DEVICES

SFAPD (“City”) currently uses electronic monitoring equipment to monitor approximately 45 clients on a monthly basis, but estimates this number to fluctuate between 30 and 75 on any given month.

The selected firm must have the capacity and capability to meet equipment and technological needs for any changes in SFAPD’s clients and/or needs.

III. ELECTRONIC MONITORING SYSTEM SOLUTION: QUALITY CONTROL REQUIREMENTS

This section is amended in its entirety as follows:
