I explore the connections between constructed space and constructed subjectivity through sculpture, photography, video and projection. The spaces I create – queer, safe, architectural and emotional – form a critically reconstructed mirror of reality, an alternative environment in which all forms of intimacy are allowed to be visible. I use social and visual material of my own life to represent spaces of transformative potential and desire.

Cybele holds an MFA from Hunter College in New York City, where she received the Tony Smith Award upon graduating. She received a BFA in printmaking in 2001 from California College of the Arts. Cybele has been an artist in residence at the Bemis Center, Atlantic Center for the Arts and Ox-Bow. She has shown her work internationally and recently exhibited with Pro Arts in Oakland as part of the 2x2 Solos. Cybele was selected as a finalist for the 2012 SECA award and was recently selected for the Kala Fellowship in Berkeley. She currently has a studio at Real Time & Space in Oakland and lives in San Francisco.
