Hi Anne,

Yes, it should definitely be in her file.

It was dangerous and insane behavior.

I do have couple of scratches on my bumper but I wouldn't be able to say for sure which would have been caused by her and to tell you the truth that is the least of my concern, Im more concern with the fact that I have to deal with that sort of things in regular basis.

Katie Carrin was there when the honking began.

Thanks,

Kui

If so, can you tell me if your car sustained any damage and if you have any before or after photos you could send me? We can't help with any insurance claims, but that would help as evidence for a warning. Additionally, do you have a witness who can corroborate your account? An additional account helps mitigate he said, she said issues.
