Dear Anne,

I am writing to let you know that I attended a mediation with Jeff Potter through the Bay are Lawyers for the Arts Scheduled for Monday September 10th from 9 am to 12 noon. I deliberated about attending the mediation for a while and then decided to go thinking that it would be good for us to have a dialogue about what has been happening.

I was seriously mistaken. What I experienced was more abuse. He attacked my mental health, never admitted to copying my designs, said that he purchased "the parts" from Ebay, attacked my creativity, he defamed my character, the way I engage my customers, shamed and blamed me and accused me of "hawking" which is untrue. I finally, after 2 hours, of this abuse, left the room.

I felt very unsafe and see the situation as paying in time and money to be abused and bullied further by Jeff Micheal Potter. I discovered the information below on Monday afternoon, following the mediation. If I had this information prior, I would not have attended the mediation

No Mediation for Workplace Bullying
Esque Walker, PhD, Texas Certified Distinguished Mediator

Mediation is an inappropriate alternative in cases involving any type of abuse or violence such as domestic violence, child abuse, sexual assault, school or workplace bullying. The victims or targets in these situations are at a disadvantage and are subjected to further abuse.
