Re: Office of Citizen Complaints 2010 Annual Statistical Report

I. INTRODUCTION

Enclosed is the Office of Citizen Complaint's ("OCC") 2010 Annual Statistical Report. The OCC faced staffing challenges in 2010 due to budget reductions and unanticipated investigator and attorney vacancies. However, through effective case management and supervision, the OCC closed all of its 2009 cases and increased the number of cases with sustained allegations.

As in 2009, at the close of 2010, the OCC's future staffing levels were uncertain due to mandated budget cuts to meet the City's projected $380 million budget deficit. The OCC's 10% reduction target of $235,000 would result in the loss of an investigator and two clerical positions. The additional $235,000 contingency target would result in the loss of an additional investigator and an attorney.

II. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The OCC has served under the leadership of Director Joyce M. Hicks since November, 2007. Director Hicks was charged with improving case management and personnel management for the OCC. The 2009 annual report reflected that case management and personnel management reforms for the OCC were underway and that in 2010 it would continue to promptly, fairly and impartially investigate civilian complaints of police misconduct.

While OCC staff continued to fairly and impartially investigate complaints, the statistics set forth below reflect the impact of inadequate staffing on the OCC's ability to promptly investigate complaints. The OCC began 2010 with seventeen journey level investigators. The OCC ended 2010 with fifteen funded investigator positions due to budget cuts but only ten journey level investigators had caseloads due to unplanned extended leaves of absence and resignations.

In 2010 the OCC opened 854 cases and closed 812 cases. The OCC facilitated the mediation of approximately 8% of the cases it closed, or 63 mediations.

While the OCC's pending cases, 424 of them, were the second highest number of pending cases at a year's close in five years, no cases from previous years remained as was the case in other years of high OCC inventories. Approximately half the OCC's 2010 case inventory remained open at the close of 2010. Unlike 2009, the investigators were unable to continue improvements to the timeliness of their investigations because there were only 10 journey-level investigators with full caseloads by the end of December 2010. The journey level investigators' caseloads increased from 21 cases in 2009 to 31 cases in 2010. In spite of these challenges, the OCC's sustained rate increased by 73% from 5.14% in 2009 to 8.89% in 2010. The OCC's 18-year average sustained rate is 8.6% and its median sustained rate over 18 years is 8.8%.

The OCC's legal unit provided sustainability analyses to the investigators and presented nine cases involving 17 officers to the Police Commission. The legal unit also presented five cases involving six officers at Chief's hearings before assigned Deputy Chiefs. The legal unit oversaw outreach efforts under the OCC's Community Outreach Strategic Plan. Additionally, the legal unit's policy work included continued attention to police policies on officer involved shootings, language access and interaction with juveniles and the mentally ill. The legal unit also oversaw the OCC's mediation program.

The OCC's information technology unit utilized database development to help the OCC track potential mediation cases; programming to automate document management and move the OCC to a near-paperless investigative case review cycle, and Web development to consolidate calendaring.

Through its clerical unit the OCC responded to nearly 600 document requests from the Police Department, the City Attorney's Office, the Public Defender's Office and the courts. The costs of storage and retrieval of these records was nearly $9,000.

III. MISSION OF THE OFFICE OF CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The mission of the OCC is to promptly, fairly and impartially investigate complaints against San Francisco police officers and make policy recommendations concerning police practices.

IV. HISTORY AND FUNCTIONS OF THE OFFICE OF CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The OCC first became staffed and began its operations in 1983. It was created by charter amendment proposed by the Board of Supervisors that was adopted on November 2, 1982. By subsequent charter amendments the OCC is guaranteed minimum staffing of one investigator for every 150 police officers and the OCC Director may file charges with the Police Commission after meeting and conferring with the Police Chief. (San Francisco City Charter, Article IV, section 4.127.) The OCC is a civilian-staffed local governmental agency that reports to the Police Commission. The Police Commission is a volunteer civilian body of seven (7) members, four (4) members nominated by the Mayor and three (3) members nominated by the Board of Supervisors. Each member must be confirmed by a majority of the Board of Supervisors. The Police Commission nominates the Director of the OCC and the Mayor appoints the Director subject to approval by the Board of Supervisors. The Police Commission has the power to terminate the services of the OCC's Director. The Director of the OCC reports to the Police Commission at its weekly meetings. By Charter, the Police Commission holds the power to manage, organize and reorganize the OCC. In practice, these powers are exercised by the Police Commission through the OCC Director. Civilians who have never been police officers in San Francisco staff the Office of Citizen Complaints.

The OCC receives, investigates and makes findings on civilian complaints of on-duty misconduct (including acts and omissions) by sworn members of the San Francisco Police Department. Where the OCC sustains one or more allegations against one or more officers in a given case, the case can either be decided by the Chief of Police or the Police Commission. The factors governing whether the Police Commission hears a case that has been sustained by the OCC include: severity of misconduct and of potential discipline; complexity of issues presented; degree of public interest in the matter and OCC recommendation to the Chief of Police as to forum (Chief or Commission). The Chief of Police either refers the case to the Commission or hears it directly. The Chief of Police has disciplinary power to issue up to a 10-day suspension; the Commission holds all greater disciplinary power, including the power to hear appeals from the Chief's disciplinary decisions. Both the Chief and the OCC Director (after conferring with the Chief) may file charges of officer misconduct with the Commission.

In 2010, the Office of Citizen Complaints' staff spoke a variety of languages, including French, Spanish, Tagalog, Russian, Mandarin, Cantonese and Burmese. If complainants spoke a language other than those languages spoken by OCC staff, the OCC staff provided an interpreter free of charge.

Consistent with the Peace Officers' Bill of Rights, officers accused by complaints filed with the OCC receive notice of the allegations against them, an opportunity to be heard by the OCC and to be represented during the investigative process, and notice of the outcome of the OCC's process. Officers are required by local law to appear upon written notice from the OCC, and if they fail to appear without sufficient cause, they are subject to discipline. If a complaint is sustained against an officer by the OCC, the officer is served with written charges and the officer is provided a hearing before either the Chief or the Commission.

By City Charter, the OCC is required to receive every complaint of alleged police misconduct or improper performance made by a member of the public where the complaint involves one or more sworn San Francisco Police Department members. The OCC's practice is to limit its investigations to those complaints involving on-duty conduct or conduct under the color of authority. All complaints are investigated unless the allegations on their face show proper conduct or they are outside OCC's jurisdiction. Cases outside the OCC's jurisdiction are forwarded to proper authorities.

The OCC performs four distinct functions: (1) investigates complaints and makes findings on those complaints; (2) mediates complaints; (3) analyzes police policies and practices; and (4) performs community outreach. These functions were performed by a staff that reached thirty-five employees in 2010. Pursuant to the Charter, none of these employees has ever served as employees of the San Francisco Police Department.

The OCC consists of eight functional units: Executive, Legal, Mediation and Outreach, Investigative, Policy Analysis, Information Services, Clerical and Accounting. The functions of each of these units will be more thoroughly described in latter sections of this report.

V. ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

OCC staffing levels declined dramatically in 2010 due to one retirement, three resignations, and five extended leaves of absence. While 17 journey level investigator positions remained in the OCC's budget, city-wide budget constraints prevented the OCC from filling two journey level investigators vacancies created in the spring of 2010 from a retirement and a resignation. In addition, with both planned and unplanned leaves of absence, three journey level investigators were absent for an average of five months during 2010.

Two investigators resigned in December and an additional investigator's cases were reassigned to the remaining investigators as he planned for a three month leave of absence at the beginning of 2011. By the end of December 2010, only 10 journey level investigators had full caseloads, however, two temporary investigators began training in December. In November 2010, in coordination with the Department of Human Resources, the OCC began a recruitment to permanently fill five journey level investigator vacancies. The OCC expects to conclude its hiring process by March 2011. Finally, the remaining two journey level investigators on extended leave were slated to return in January 2011 but as previously stated, another journey level investigator was scheduled to take a three month leave of absence beginning in January.

The OCC implemented a strategic training plan for its investigators in 2010. Pursuant to the plan, the OCC investigators attended eleven training sessions. One of the training sessions was an all day POST certified training by the Behavioral Analysis Training Institute on investigative interviews.

Finally, the OCC met with San Francisco Policy Officer Association representatives regarding interview protocols to ensure uncontaminated interviews of officers. These protocols advise officers who are interviewed by OCC investigators of their responsibilities to cooperate during the interviews including advising their representatives that the representatives may not disrupt the interviews by answering the investigators' questions instead of the subject or witness officer answering the questions.

VI. EXECUTIVE UNIT

Director Joyce M. Hicks led the Executive Unit in 2010. The Executive Unit included Executive Secretary Pamela Thompson and the Accounting Unit. The Accounting Unit was solely staffed by Senior Account Clerk Laura Tham. The Executive Unit was responsible for directing and managing office operations, including personnel and budget tasks. In addition, the Director reviewed all investigations and the managers of the other units in the office reported to her.

VII. INVESTIGATION UNIT AND INVESTIGATION OF CASES

Chief Investigator Charles Gallman led the Investigation Unit in 2010. The three investigative teams led by Senior Investigators Erick Baltazar, Dennis Maxson and Edward McMahon began with seventeen journey level investigators. Due to budget reductions, two journey level investigator vacancies which occurred in April and May 2010 were left unfilled. These two unfilled positions reduced the number of journey level investigators by 10% to 15. As previously reported, by December 2010, the OCC was operating with only 67% of its journey level investigators; however, by the end of December, two temporary investigators were hired.

In 2010, the OCC opened 854 new cases and closed 812 cases. The number of new cases represents a 16% reduction in complaints filed in the previous year. The number of cases closed is a 21% reduction in cases closed in the previous year. The reduction in case closures graphically represents the impact of a 33% reduction of journey level investigators.

Despite staffing issues faced by the OCC, the investigative staff continued to demonstrate its commitment to the OCC's mission of investigating civilian complaints of police misconduct or neglect of duty promptly, fairly and impartially. In 2009, with 17 journey investigators, the OCC investigators' caseloads were reduced to 21 cases per investigator. In 2010 the investigators' caseload increased to 31 cases per investigator. In its 2007 audit of the OCC, the Controller's Office reported that, after studying comparable caseloads at other agencies, OCC investigators had a far higher caseload than investigators in comparable agencies. The Controller found that the average caseload in comparable agencies was 16 cases per investigator while the OCC's investigators had an average caseload of 34 cases. Unfortunately, the picture in 2010 for the investigators' caseloads was more like the picture in 2007 than in 2008 and 2009 when staffing levels had increased.

By the close of 2010, no cases remained from 2009 but 424, or nearly half of the 854 complaints filed in 2010 were pending. Insufficient staffing continued to have a negative impact on the time it took to investigate a case to completion but surprisingly did not have a negative impact on the rate of sustained misconduct findings.

The rate of sustained cases began to increase in 2009. The sustained rate for 2009 was 5.14% which was up from 3.83% in 2008 and comparable to the sustained 5.24% sustained rate in 2007. The sustained rate increased dramatically in 2010 to 8.9%. Over a seventeen year period between 1993 and 2010, the median sustained rate was 8.8% and the average sustain rate was 8.6%.

In studying sustained rates over the past five years, the 2006 sustained rate was 7.24% or 85% of the mean sustained rate¹. The sustained rate continued to decline in 2007, dropping to 5.36% or 63% of mean. In 2008, the sustained rate once again declined, reaching 3.84%, or 45% of mean. In 2009 the sustained rate increased to 5.14% or 60% of mean. Then, in 2010 the sustained rate increased by 73% to 8.9% or 104% of mean. (See Appendix "A", page 7 and 8)

VIII. COMPLAINANTS

The demographic characteristics of complainants can be found in tables and charts in Appendix "A" pages 13 through 20. In 2010, Caucasians at 31% and African Americans at 26% made up the largest percentage of complainants. The majority of complainants were male, 59%. According to 2009 Census data, African Americans were only 7% of San Francisco's population, yet they were 26% of OCC's 2010 complainants. The majority of complainants fell between the ages of 20 and 50. Ninety-six percent of the case intakes were in English. The next most frequent language was Spanish (3% of the cases). One percent of the case intakes were in Russian. Less than 1% of the cases involved intakes in American Sign Language, Cantonese and French. (See Appendix “A” page 21.)

IX. ALLEGATION TYPES

The 854 complaints received by the OCC in 2010 consisted of allegations ranging from discourtesy to unnecessary force. (See Appendix “A”, page 23) The largest percentage of allegations (35%) was for unwarranted action. The second highest percentage of allegations (27%) was for conduct reflecting discredit followed by neglect of duty (23%) and unnecessary force (10%). Between 2009 and 2010 the percentage distribution of allegation types remained largely unchanged.

X. FINDINGS AND ALLEGATIONS IN CLOSED CASES

The evidentiary standard for making findings in OCC cases is the “preponderance of the evidence”. “Preponderance of the evidence” means that in balancing the probabilities that the incident occurred as the complainant said it did, it is more likely than not (greater than 50%) that the complainant’s allegation is true. Often an event is only witnessed by the complainant and the officer, making it difficult to either prove or disprove the allegation. By far the most frequent finding in all allegations was not sustained. In 2010, the finding for 57% of allegations in OCC complaints was not sustained. Officers were found to have engaged in proper conduct in 28% of the allegations. Allegations were sustained 5% of the time. The most frequently sustained allegation was neglect of duty (67% of sustained allegations). Conduct reflecting discredit followed at 14%. Unwarranted action was found in 12% of the sustained allegations and discourtesy was found in 5% of the allegations. Unnecessary force was found in 2% of the sustained allegations. (See Appendix “A” page 42.) Summaries of sustained cases are found in Appendix “A” pages 25-41.

XI. DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS STATUS OF CURRENT OCC CASES – THE ‘KEANE’ REPORT

By the end of the first quarter of 2010, staff had completed intake² on all 2009 cases, and by the end of 2010, closed 100% of these so that no 2009 cases were pending. In 2010,

² Complaint intake occurs during the first fifteen working days of complaint filing with the OCC. Complaint intake includes completion of the complaint form, obtaining police documents through computer research and routine and non-routine document requests, interview of the complainant and available witnesses, photo spreads to identify officers, obtaining signed medical releases, obtaining signed juvenile consent forms, photographing

76% of OCC's cases were closed within 270 days compared to 86% in 2009. Of particular note, however, 98% of cases closed in 2010 were closed within a year of filing which is similar to 97% in 2009. (See Appendix "A", page 53.)

XII. CASELOAD MANAGEMENT

Due to investigator vacancies, the 31 cases per investigator caseload in 2010 was 48% higher than in 2009. The average caseload in 2009 was 21 cases per investigator. In 2010, the highest caseload was 37 cases and the lowest was 27 cases. This compares unfavorably to 2009 when the highest caseload was 26 cases and the lowest was 19. (See Appendix "A" pages 133 and 134.) To help manage the increased caseloads of the journey level investigators, the Senior Investigators continued monthly case reviews, monitoring caseloads and assuming investigative responsibility in selected cases.

XIII. LEGAL UNIT

In 2010, as in 2009, the OCC's legal unit consisted of four attorney positions: one supervising trial attorney, one full-time trial attorney, one part-time attorney policy analyst, and one full-time attorney mediation/outreach coordinator. However, due to a shift in the workload demands, during the fourth quarter, the part-time policy analyst position was changed to full-time, and the full-time attorney mediation coordinator was changed to part-time.

In addition to prosecuting cases before the Police Commission and Deputy Chiefs at Chief's hearings, the trial attorneys perform sustainability analyses on complaints filed with the OCC. The policy analyst also performs sustainability analyses. Her policy work is described in section XIV of this report. The attorney performing mediation and outreach work also reviews hearing requests. The mediation and outreach work is described in sections XV and XVI of this report.

One of the primary duties of the legal unit is to present misconduct cases to the Police Chief when officers object to proposed discipline of ten days suspension or less and to the Police Commission when the proposed discipline exceeds ten days suspension. Under the City Charter, matters involving suspensions beyond 10-days up through termination due to misconduct are under the exclusive authority of the Police Commission.

injuries, identifying initial allegations, beginning case work summary, citing relevant rules and developing an investigation plan for review by the investigator's supervisor.

During 2010, the OCC continued to focus on reviewing, prioritizing and adjudicating cases pending at Police Commission levels, and on ensuring that newly filed cases moved at a timely pace. In furtherance of this effort, the OCC was able to present to the Police Commission all backlogged cases, consisting of four cases involving seven officers from the period 2003 through 2007, and to reach resolution on all of them. Two of these cases involved appeals by two officers from discipline imposed at the Chief's Hearing level. In one of the cases, the charge was determined not sustained, and in the other, the charge was sustained and the officer received a Written Reprimand. Another case, which involved four officers and an incident that took place in 2004, was presented in a 3-day hearing. Charges were dismissed against three of the officers and in the case of the fourth officer, the charge was not sustained. In the remaining backlogged case, the officer agreed to receive discipline in lieu of a hearing, of three days of suspension, and retraining on the issue of approaching vehicles.

In 2010, the OCC also presented to the Police Commission five current cases (2008 onward) pending against 10 officers. In one of the cases, the two officers charged with misconduct made pretrial motions challenging issues of law. The issues were briefed and are currently pending a determination by the Police Commission, before the hearing can take place. Another case involving one officer was fully presented at a hearing that lasted two days, and is awaiting deliberation by the Police Commission. In two other cases, charges against five officers were dismissed by the Police Commission as a result of pre-trial challenges related to timely service of charges. In the remaining case involving two officers, pretrial motions and the presentation of evidence has begun and already taken three days. It is anticipated that the hearing will conclude within the first quarter of 2011.

In addition to the nine cases involving 17 officers presented to the Police Commission, in 2010, the Legal Team presented five cases involving six officers at Chief's hearings before assigned Deputy Chiefs.

XIV. POLICY ANALYSIS

Policy analysis is an essential aspect of the OCC's mission. While individual discipline is an essential component of law enforcement management, changes to police policies and practices directly impact the entire police force and the public. By comparison, OCC sustained findings in 2010 directly impacted 98 officers, or 4% percent of a staff of 2235 sworn members.

The San Francisco City Charter requires the OCC to present quarterly recommendations concerning SFPD's policies or practices that enhance police-community relations while ensuring effective police services. The OCC's policy work is led by attorney and policy analyst, Samara Marion. In 2010, the OCC advanced its policy projects on a range of law enforcement practices, including juvenile-police interactions, police response to mental health crisis calls, language access services and restrictions on shootings at cars.

Throughout 2010, the OCC tenaciously worked to implement the revisions to Department General Order 7.01. Adopted by the Police Commission in May 2008, the OCC-initiated revisions to Department General Order 7.01 establish new juvenile-police protocols for Miranda warnings, interrogations, parental notification, and the transporting, search, and release of juveniles.

In collaboration with juvenile justice advocacy groups, city agencies, commissions and the Police Department, the OCC co-authored a “Know Your Rights” brochure for youth. Available in six languages, the brochure explains to youth and their families, their rights and responsibilities under the new juvenile-policing protocols. Whenever an SFPD officer temporarily detains or arrests a juvenile, the officer is required to provide this brochure to the juvenile. Through the OCC’s collaborative efforts with juvenile justice advocates, city agencies, commissions and the Police Department, the “Know Your Rights” brochure has been distributed to over two-dozen endorsing agencies, the San Francisco Police Departments, and all San Francisco Unified School District’s middle and high school campuses.

In September 2010, the OCC, in conjunction with several community organizations and the San Francisco Police Department, held a joint press conference. The press conference announced the release of the Know Your Rights brochure and the Police Department’s agreement to bring juvenile detainees to the police investigation room at Huckleberry Community Assessment and Referral Center instead of its past practice of bringing juveniles to district stations where adult suspects are held. Moderated by Police Commissioner Angela Chan, the press conference panelists included OCC Director Joyce M. Hicks, George Gascón (Former SFPD Chief of Police), David Lazar (SFPD Investigations Bureau Commander), Denise Coleman (Director of Juvenile Justice Programs at Huckleberry Youth Programs), Ron Stuekle (Sunset Youth Services staff member and Juvenile Justice Providers Association President), Paul Henderson (San Francisco Assistant District Attorney), and Tiara Hewitt (San Francisco Youth Commissioner).

The OCC also co-authored an officer’s quick reference guide to Department General Order 7.01. This SFPD-issued, laminated reference guide fits in patrol officers’ tag books and succinctly summarizes DGO 7.01 newest revisions. Additionally, the OCC co-authored roll call training for SFPD officers on the new juvenile-policing protocols. During a series of Police Academy trainings in November and December 2010, the OCC introduced the new juvenile-policing protocols and the roll call scenarios to sergeants, school resource officers, and probation officer.

During September 2010, the OCC made recommendations to enhance the SFPD’s response to mental health crisis calls. Building on its earlier mental health response recommendations,³ in a detailed report, the OCC recommended that SFPD revised its approach to mentally ill individuals in crisis to provide the same degree of specialized law enforcement expertise and critical response resources that are accorded other high risk policing encounters. Advocating for SFPD's adoption of the Memphis Crisis Intervention Team approach⁴, the OCC recommended that SFPD:

- Develop a specialized police unit of CIT officers, who are trained and deployed as first responders to incidents involving mentally ill persons in crisis. (This group of specially trained CIT officers continues their duties as regular patrol officers in a district until they are dispatched as first responders to a mental health crisis call. Officers apply to be CIT officers and are selected based upon their background, supervisor recommendation, and skills to ensure that similar to other specialized units such as SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactic) or Hostage and Negotiation Team—officers have the requisite abilities for mental crisis intervention work.)
- Appoint a member of SFPD Command Staff to work with the OCC, stakeholders and subject matter experts to develop the Police Department's policies and procedures for police interactions with mentally ill persons in crisis, including the Department's philosophy statement, specialized police mental health response unit, data collection, training curriculum, and revisions to Department General Orders.
- Expand the Department's current Police Crisis Intervention Training (CIT) to include tactical strategies for encounters with mentally ill persons who may have a bladed weapon.⁵
- Design roll call, advanced officer and field training that assist officers in formulating sound tactical plans when encountering mentally ill individuals, especially involving individuals who may have a bladed weapon.

³ See OCC's recommendations in SFPD's 2010 Officer Involved Shooting Study, <http://sf-police.org/Modules/ShowDocument.aspx?documentid=24139>.

- Improve field supervision so that sergeants effectively assume a supervisory role, devise—whenever feasible—sound tactical and strategic plans before action is taken, and direct the actions of involved officers.
- Revise Department General Orders 8.02 (Hostage and Barricaded Suspect Incidents), 8.01 (Critical Incidents) and 6.14 (Psychological Evaluation of Adults) to include the Department’s philosophy and procedures for handling encounters with mentally ill persons in crisis, including mentally ill barricaded individuals.
- Design a data collection system to review and evaluate mental health crisis calls and SFPD’s responses to such incidents.

In November, Chief George Gascón agreed to send a team that included OCC’s policy analyst, to Memphis, Tennessee in early January 2011 to learn more about the CIT model.

The OCC’s efforts to advance its 2009 language access recommendations have been impeded by a series of personnel changes within the Police Department. Nonetheless, the OCC developed roll-call training on using bilingual officers or qualified civilian interpreters during domestic violence calls. Among OCC’s top priorities is to work with the Police Department and the Department of Emergency Management to enhance its dispatch system to enable dispatchers to identify immediately the specialized skills of each officer (e.g. language ability, CIT-trained, member of the Hostage & Negotiation Team), the officer’s availability, and location.

Finally, in 2010 the OCC worked with the Police Department to restrict its shooting at vehicles policy. The OCC recommended mandatory restrictions similar to those adopted by police departments in major cities such as New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Boston. Consistent with best practices, the OCC recommended that the new policy explain the inherent dangers and ineffectiveness of shooting at a moving vehicle. On June 3, 2010, Department Bulletin 10-156 informed officers of the Police Department’s prohibition on shooting at moving vehicles except under extreme circumstances. By working with the Department to restrict this high risk use of deadly force, the OCC continued its vital role in enhancing police-community relations while ensuring effective police services.

XV. MEDIATIONS

The OCC’s mediation program provides officers and civilians a unique opportunity for dispute resolution in certain types of complaints. Throughout 2010, the OCC’s mediation program remained robust despite an initial setback by an unexpected two-month leave of the OCC’s Mediation Coordinator. At the close of 2010, the OCC had mediated 63 cases, representing 8% of the OCC's total caseload for the year. Although mediating 13 fewer cases than last year's record high of 76, as soon as the OCC's Mediation Coordinator returned in late February, the agency resumed its 2009 average of mediating 6 cases per month. Moreover, mediations conducted in 2010 represent the third highest number of mediations conducted annually in the OCC's history.

The mediation program creates a forum for officers and civilians to have a frank discussion about the complaint. In addition to the non-confrontational opportunity for dispute resolution, the mediation program provides the following unique benefits that are unavailable under the investigative process:

Time savings

Mediation allows cases to be processed expeditiously. In 2010, mediated cases were open a median of 84 days and an average of 99 days, whereas investigated cases were open a median of 160 days and an average of 166 days.

Cost savings

Cases are mediated by a current roster of over 100 volunteer mediators who conduct mediations without charge. Additionally, mediated cases relieve the investigators from additional casework. The 63 cases mediated in 2010 equal a full-time investigator's annual caseload.

Greater Satisfaction for Complainants and Officers

In the voluntary and anonymous exit survey that is set forth below, 85% of the participants were very satisfied or satisfied with the mediation program and 79% of the participants felt that the complaint was either fully or partially resolved.

The following responses were received in the OCC mediation exit survey during 2010:

Rating of participant's experience with the mediation process:

- 42% - very satisfied
- 43% - satisfied
- 15% - dissatisfied.

Whether the mediation location provided a safe environment to freely express concerns and issues:

- 99% - yes
- 1% - no

Percentage of mediation participants who felt they had the opportunity to be heard and express their thoughts;

99% -yes
1% -no

Percentage of participants who felt that the other party fully participated in the mediation:

87% - yes
13% - no

Percentage of participants who felt that the mediators accurately identified and addressed the core issue of the complainant:

94% - yes
6% - no

Percentage of participants who felt that the complaint was totally resolved at the mediation:

Totally resolved – 43%
Partially resolved – 36%
Not resolved at all – 21%

Two examples of successful mediations follow:

Example #1

The Complainant lives in a high crime area. She called the police when a group of young people parked their cars near her home and were playing music loudly. The Complainant saw the young people smoking and believed they were using narcotics.

From her home, the Complainant watched a patrol car arrive at the scene. Although the officers spoke with the young people, they never exited their patrol vehicle. As soon as the patrol vehicle left the scene, the young people turned up the music again and resumed the party.

At the mediation, the officers explained that just as they arrived at the scene to handle the noise complaint, they received a priority call regarding gun shots fired several blocks away. Consequently, they needed to resolve quickly the noise complaint and respond immediately to the shots fired call. After listening to each other's perceptions of events and sharing the basis for each of their actions, both parties shook hands. Through mediation, the officer and the complainant gained a deeper understanding of the challenges they each experienced during this police interaction.

Example #2

The Complainant operates a non-profit agency that serves young people. Several times a month the agency sponsors a needle exchange program. One day while the needle exchange program was in progress, two officers entered the complainant's agency. The Complainant reported that the officers' presence was intimidating to the population her organization serves.

During mediation, the officers explained that they were walking a new beat and went into the agency to introduce themselves. The complainant was able to explain the negative impact of a police presence during the needle exchange program. Together both parties had a productive discussion regarding problems in the area and potential solutions.

In addition to administering the OCC's mediation program, this year the Mediation Coordinator attended the Alternative Dispute Resolution of Northern California Conference and three Community Boards trainings to promote the program among mediators and community members. As a result of this community education program, the Mediation Coordinator provided an orientation for eight new mediators. These efforts enable our agency to enlarge our pool of mediators thereby enabling us to increase our mediation efforts in the upcoming year.

The mediation program has proven to be an effective educational tool for officers and complainants alike. The eligible officer participation rate was 97% and 52% of complainants offered mediation agreed to participate. In 2011 the OCC will continue to promote the mediation program and hopes to increase the number of appropriate cases that can be resolved through dispute resolution.

XVI. OUTREACH

Throughout 2010, the OCC followed its Community Outreach Strategic Plan, which outlined its outreach goals in the areas of community presentations and partnerships, language access, training, website development, media relations, and program effectiveness and resources. By using a community-based approach that relies upon presentations, widely distributed written materials in multiple languages, and the OCC website, the OCC's Outreach Strategic Plan provides a roadmap for strengthening its relationships with communities which historically and statistically, were likely to have encounters with the police. The OCC's Community Outreach Strategic Plan also seeks to reach communities that have been racially, culturally or linguistically isolated from police services. Despite significant staffing shortages, the OCC has successfully implemented this ambitious outreach strategy.

In 2009, the OCC initiated a system of evaluating our outreach efforts. The data collected during 2010 indicates that 100% of the presentations offered met the expectations of the audience; were given by presenters knowledgeable about the subject matter; and provided substantive written materials. Every evaluator indicated he or she would attend future OCC presentations and would recommend the presentation to others.

In addition to receiving evaluations of our presentations from our audiences, the OCC now uses a self-evaluation document for resource fairs and other events. The data gathered from these documents allows the OCC to track networking efforts and constantly improve our outreach efforts to reach our targeted audiences.

In 2010, the OCC continued to work with representatives of numerous legal and community groups such as the Juvenile Justice Providers Association, the Asian Law Caucus, Instituto Familiar de la Raza, Asian Pacific Islander Legal Outreach, the Youth Commission, and the Center for Criminal and Juvenile Justice, to name a few.

In addition to its work investigating complaints, the OCC continued its efforts to inform members of the Department and community about the OCC's services and procedures. OCC staff made presentations to Academy classes at the beginning and end of their training, and at Police Commission community meetings held in the Mission, Western Addition, Taraval, and Portola Districts.

OCC staff also gave presentations to other organizations including the Excelsior Family Center, the Excelsior Family Connections, Huckleberry Community Assessment and Referral Center, the Alameda County Bar Association, Taft Family Services, the 24th Street Merchants Association, the Richmond Police Commission, the Piedmont Police Department, the Piedmont Diversity Committee, the San Francisco Public Defender's Office, and the San Francisco United School District's Student Advisory Council.

In 2010, OCC staffed informational tables at Operation Homeless Connect in the Bayview, Golden Gate Park, and at Civic Center, at Veteran's Connect, the Bayview/Hunters Point Back to School Celebration, the Sheriff's Department Resource Fair, the Touchdown Resource Fair, the Tenderloin Health and Resource Fair, the Chinatown Resource Fair, the Treasure Island Resource Fair, the San Francisco Public Defenders Office, the Senior Action Network Convention and San Francisco's Department of Children, Youth and Families' Family Summer Resource Fair.

The OCC regularly distributed complaint forms and brochures in six languages to all police stations, the District Attorney's Office, the Public Defender's Office, the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, the ACCESS Center, all twenty-seven branch libraries, the Mayor's Office on Aging and Adult Services, La Raza Centro Legal, and community centers including Community Boards, the Ella Hill Hutch Community Center, the Bayview Hunters Point Family Resource Center, the Bernal Heights and Mission Neighborhood Centers, the African American Resource Center, Community United against Violence, North Beach Neighborhood Homeless Services, the Community Justice Center, Lyric and Larking Street Youth Centers, the Transgender Law Center, Episcopal Community Services, Arriba Juntos, the African Immigrant Resource Center, and the Yerba Buena Community Center.

As a unique police oversight model, the OCC regularly attracts the interest of international as well as academic communities. This year the OCC hosted law enforcement delegates from England and Argentina, government officials from Hangzhou City, and representatives from the Australian Crime and Misconduct Commission and the Indonesian Legal Aid Foundation. The OCC staff discussed the principles of civilian oversight and the police disciplinary process with students from San Francisco State University and Hastings College of Law.

Throughout 2010, the OCC had several media opportunities to discuss civilian oversight issues and inform the public of the OCC's services. In April 2010, Executive Director Joyce Hicks wrote an article about the NAACP's rapid response reporting system for police misconduct in the spring 2010 NACOLE Review, the National Association of Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement's quarterly newsletter. The San Francisco Bay Guardian interviewed Director Hicks for its August 10, 2010 article about SFPD's disciplinary system. In August, the OCC developed an English, Spanish and Cantonese Public Service Announcement about its services and distributed it to numerous media outlets including KDBS, SFGTV and various ethnic media organizations. The Bay Citizen interviewed OCC Policy Analyst Samara Marion for its October 14, 2010 New York Times article concerning police response to mental health crisis calls. San Francisco's National Alliance on Mental Illness' November/December 2010 newsletter highlighted the OCC's recommendation to the San Francisco Police Department and Police Commission that specialized police unit be trained and deployed as first responders to incidents involving mentally ill persons in crisis.

NACOLE's 2010 training conference in Seattle, Washington featured a number of OCC-initiated panels. Policy Analyst Samara Marion developed a panel presentation, "Policy Matters: Lessons from the Trenches." The panel moderated by OCC Director Hicks, included Ms. Marion, Pierce Murphy, a former Menlo Park police officer and currently the City of Boise Community-Police Ombudsman, and Kevin Brosseau, a former Royal Canadian Mounted Police Officer and currently the Senior Director, Operations, at the Commission for Public Complaints Against the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Investigator Jayson Wechter, who is also a NACOLE board member, moderated two panels at the NACOLE training conference, "Basic Investigative Skills for Civilian Oversight Practitioners" and “How to Assess the Quality of an Investigation.” These panels enabled the OCC to show case its well-established investigative practices and innovative policy work.

XVII. CLERICAL UNIT

In 2010 the clerical team input 854 cases in the database. The unit processed disposition letters for the 812 closed cases and updated the findings in the database. Approximately 141 complaint forms were mailed at the request of prospective consumers.

The OCC received document requests in 2010 as follows:

1. The San Francisco Police Department made 363 requests to process Pitchess Motions involving 1310 SFPD members. Additionally the Police Department made 151 document requests involving 397 SFPD members pursuant to its Early Intervention System.
2. The U.S. District Court served 22 subpoenas involving 338 SFPD members.
3. San Francisco Superior Court served 1 subpoena involving 1 SFPD member.
4. The San Francisco City Attorney made 52 document requests from the City Attorney involving 73 SFPD members.
5. The San Francisco Public Defender made 2 document requests.

The total cost of retrieving and storing OCC documents in 2010 was approximately $9,000.

XVIII. INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY UNIT

The OCC’s information technology function drives and supports its data intensive operations. Chris Wisniewski, OCC’s Information Services Business Analyst (“IS Business Analyst”), performs that function. In 2010, the OCC’s technology functions remained stable and reliable with no data loss or serious incidents of downtime or disruption to staff.

Beyond preserving the "status quo", which included holding the line and hardening security against a spate of new, more sophisticated internet threats and ensuring investigators maintained equivalent access through the Police Department's HRMS (Human Resource Management System) upgrade, OCC processes were streamlined.

The Business Analyst made developments to the database provided for better tracking of potential mediation cases. He used programming to automate document management and move the OCC to a near-paperless investigative case review cycle. He also used Web development to consolidate several separate, ineffective calendaring/reservation systems. This calendaring system also allows the OCC to track and report on use of staff time (interviews, field work, vacations) and shared resources.

Finally, as in years past, Mr. Wisniewski prepared and produced data in support of the Language Access policy, the COMPSTAT initiative, the NACOLE (National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement) Conference, and a Civil Grand Jury request for information. He also developed the OCC annual and quarterly statistical reports, the Document Protocol Report and Performance Measures statistics.

XIX. PERFORMANCE MEASURES

Performance measures are a part of the OCC's annual budget. The budget is adopted on a fiscal year that runs from July 1 through June 30. Performance measure data has been adjusted to a calendar year basis for the purposes of this report. The statistics below are based on the calendar year 2010 and the targets have been adjusted to average the targets and projected numbers for two fiscal half years, i.e., the latter half of fiscal year 2009/2010 (January 1 through June 30, 2010) and the first half of fiscal year 2010/2011 (July 1 through December 31, 2010).

1. Goal 1 - Address civilian complaints of police misconduct professionally and efficiently
 - a. Measure number 1 -This performance measure identifies the number of completed investigations that contained at least one sustained allegation. There is no target or projection because such a target may give the impression that the agency's mission is to find misconduct where there is none. However, the measurement is used to comparatively evaluate agency workload and performance, as well as to evaluate caseload management. The actual number of sustained cases from January 1 through December 31, 2009 was 72, or a 9% sustained rate.
 - b. Measure number 2 - Percentage of sustained complaints completed in a timely manner. The actual percentage from January 1 through December 31, 2010 was 100 %. The target was 100%. The projected is 100%.
 - c. Measure number 3 – Number of complaints closed during the year per FTE investigator. The target is 60 per year and 30 per six months. The actual from January

1 through December 31, 2010 was 47. The projected was 60 cases per investigator per year. The 22% decline in complaints closed per journey level investigator reflects a 35% decrease in the number of investigators from 17 in 2009 to 11 by the beginning of December 2010 due to budget reductions, retirement, resignations and extended leaves of absences. During the latter half of December 2010, the OCC hired two temporary investigators who were in training. This increased the number of journey level investigators to 13, but since two were in training, an investigator was scheduled for a long term leave of absence the year closed with only 10 trained journey level investigators with full caseloads. It was anticipated that two investigators on extended leaves of absence would return in early 2011 but that two additional investigators would begin 3 month leaves of absence each, one in January 2011 and another in March 2011.

2. Goal 2 - Facilitate corrective action in response to complaints

- a. Measure number 1- Percentage of identified cases in which policy, procedure, and practice recommendations are presented to the SFPD or the Police Commission. The actual from January 1 through December 31 2010 was 93%. The target and the projected are 90% for fiscal year 2010/2011 and the target and projected for fiscal year 2009/2010 was 90%.

The OCC presented 14 policy recommendations to the SFPD and/or the Police Commission from January 1 through December 31, 2010. The OCC closed 15 cases during the measurement period where policy, procedure and/or practice failure were identified. Not all policies presented to the Commission and/or SFPD are the same ones that relate to cases closed as policy recommendations in the measurement period. Further, the OCC, working with the Police Department, is creating policy materials in response to recommendations made to the Police Commission. The Commission has instituted timelines and priorities for this policy work.

- b. Measure number 2 – Percentage of sustained cases that resulted in corrective or disciplinary action by the Chief or Police Commission. The actual from January to December 31, 2010 was 93%. The target and projected is 90%.

Over the past decade, the rate of sustained cases that resulted in corrective action by the Chief of Police has ranged from 66% to 95%. Improved communication and discussion between the OCC and SFPD and more timely imposition of discipline by the Police Department may facilitate consistent findings.

XX. CONCLUSION

The OCC faced staffing challenges in 2010 due to budget reductions and unanticipated investigator and attorney vacancies. However, through effective case management and supervision, the OCC closed all of its 2009 cases and increased the number of cases with sustained allegations.
