

Emerging Mobility 2019 Internship

Start Date: Ongoing through May 2020

Part-time, Stipend

Program Description:

The San Francisco Local Agency Formation Commission is leading a labor study on emerging mobility services in San Francisco. The study will examine labor models used in emerging mobility services to understand the demographics of the contractor labor force employed by companies such as Uber, Lyft, Caviar and Postmates. It will investigate how many contractors work for this sector, in which cities they reside, how many contractors work for multiple emerging mobility services, and what their commute patterns are. The study will work to understand whether or how emerging mobility contractors access medical, dental and other benefits, and look at how other local and state governments have stepped in to help provide a security blanket for these workers. The results will inform state and local policy related to contractor benefits requirements. For more info about SF LAFCo, visit <http://www.sfbos.org/index.aspx?page=4151>.

Internship Description:

The SF LAFCo emerging mobility intern will work closely with the Executive Officer to carry out tasks related to the study, including obtaining information, data and interviews with a growing list of emerging mobility companies in San Francisco. Experience analyzing data is a plus. Under close supervision and guidance, interns will examine what other cities around the world are doing to address the labor practices of such companies, and help to gather meaningful feedback from key stakeholders. The ideal candidate will be organized, self-motivated and an excellent communicator with good writing skills and a passion for labor and transportation issues. Interns will work at San Francisco City Hall, with an option to occasionally work remotely, and report to the SF LAFCo Executive Officer. We are looking for someone to start ASAP.

SF LAFCo encourages women, minorities and persons with disabilities to apply. Applicants will be considered regardless of their sex, race, age, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition (associated with cancer, a history of cancer, or genetic characteristics), HIV/AIDS status, genetic information, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, military and veteran status, or any other protected category under the law.
