Review of civil rights protections under California law for pregnant employees and new parents
PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE

• Pregnancy Disability Leave, or PDL, is leave from work to accommodate employees with a pregnancy disability.

• Health care provider will recommend leave from work, entitled to up to four months of PDL per pregnancy. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 11042).

• This leave is in addition to any other leave for which an employee may be eligible under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), California Family Rights Act (CFRA) or New Parent Leave Act (NPLA), or other state laws and local ordinances, or your employer’s leave policies.
PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE (2 OF 3)

Eligibility

• Employer employs five or more employees
• There is no minimum requirement for number of hours or years worked to be eligible. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, §§ 11035(h) & 11037).
§ CCR § 11042 Pregnancy Disability Leave

• Reinstatement rights: The PDL provides reinstatement rights to returning employees.

• Reinstatement to same position: Following a pregnancy disability leave, an employee generally has the right to be reinstated to the same position held before the leave.

• Exception—position no longer exists: An employee has no greater rights than would have had if continuously employed, even if the employer has given a written guarantee of reinstatement to the employee.
PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE (POSITION) (1 OF 2)

- Reinstatement to comparable position: If an employee returning from a pregnancy disability leave cannot be reinstated in the same, the employee generally has a right to be reinstated to an available comparable position. [2 CCR § 11043(c)(2)]
“Available” comparable position defined: A comparable position (for which the employee is qualified) is deemed “available” if it is open on the employee's scheduled return date or within 60 calendar days thereafter or it is one to which the employee is entitled by the employer's policy, contract or CBA. [2 CCR § 11043(c)(2)(B)]

Notice of available positions: The employer must inform the employee of available comparable positions by means “reasonably calculated” to give her notice of the job openings. [2 CCR § 11043(c)(2)(B)]
"DISABLED BY PREGNANCY"

2 CCR § 11035

§ 11035. Définitions

• In the opinion of the health care provider, the employee is unable because of pregnancy to perform any one or more of the essential functions of her job or to perform any of these functions without undue risk to herself, to her pregnancy's successful completion, or to other persons.
PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE – MUST BE CONSISTENT

• An employer is not required to pay an employee during pregnancy disability leave unless the employer pays for other temporary disability leaves for similarly situated employees.

• (1) Sick Leave. An employer may not require an employee to use sick time when for birth/bonding with child, but an employee may elect to use.

• (2) Vacation Time and Other Accrued Time Off. An employee may elect, at their option.
FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE ACT (FMLA) (1 OF 2)

• FMLA applies to all public agencies, all public and private elementary and secondary schools, and companies with 50 or more employees in a 75 mile radius.

• Employer has employed 50 or more employees for each working day during each of 20 or more calendar workweeks in the current or preceding year.

• An employee has worked the minimum 1,250 hours of service.
FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE ACT (FMLA) (2 OF 2)

Federal Law

• These employers must provide an eligible employee with up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave each year for any of the following reasons:
  – Birth
  – Placement with the employee of a child for adoption or foster care;
  – Care for an immediate family member (spouse, child, or parent) with a serious health condition;
  – Care for Military - 26 weeks.
A Pregnancy Leave May Also Be a FMLA Leave.

If the employer is a covered employer and the employee is eligible for leave under the federal Family Care and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), the employer may be able to count the employee's pregnancy disability leave up to a maximum of 12 weeks, against her FMLA leave entitlement.
CALIFORNIA FAMILY RIGHTS ACT (CFRA) OF 1993

- Birth, adoption, or foster care placement of child or for personal serious health condition or that of your child, parent or spouse.
- 12 months of service and have worked at least 1,250 hours in the 12-month period before the date you want to begin your leave.
- Employ 50 or more employees or within 75 miles of worksite. Employed 50 or more employees for each working day during each of 20 or more calendar workweeks in the current or preceding year.
CFRA LEAVE (1 OF 3)

• This leave may be up to 12 workweeks in a 12-month period.

• The 12-workweek period means 60 working and/or paid eight hour days for full-time employees. For part-time employees, the number of working days is adjusted on a pro rata basis (e.g., for an employee who works half-time, “12 workweeks” means 30 full days or 60 half days). [2 CCR § 11090(c)(1)]
Unlike the FMLA, the CFRA’s minimum duration of such a leave generally is two weeks, except that the employee has a right to shorter leaves (e.g., one day) on any two occasions and the employer shall grant requests for additional occasions of leave lasting less than two weeks. [2 CCR § 11090(d)]
CFRA LEAVE (3 OF 3)

- Parents with same employer: The employer may limit their combined leave rights in connection with the birth, adoption or foster care placement of a child, to 12 weeks. Note there is no such limitation if the leave is taken to provide care for the serious health condition of the child. [2 CCR § 11088(c)]
C FRA REINSTATEMENT RIGHTS (1 OF 2)

- Reinstatement to same position.
- Exception—position no longer exists: An employee has no greater rights than would have had if continuously employed, even if the employer has given a written guarantee of reinstatement to the employee.
- Notice of available positions: The employer must inform the employee of available comparable positions by means “reasonably calculated” to give her notice of the job openings. [2 CCR § 11043(c)(2)(B)]
However, in granting a CFRA leave, the employer must provide the employee with a guarantee of reinstatement to the same or a comparable position at the conclusion of the leave (unless it turns out that the employee would not otherwise be employed at the time, or the employee is a “key employee” and reinstatement would result in substantial and grievous economic injury. If requested by the employee, the employer must put the guarantee in writing. [2 CCR § 11089(a)]
CFRA DESIGNATION (1 OF 3)

- Form of notice: Employee notice to the employer of a CFRA leave request may be verbal. [2 CCR § 11091(a)(1).
- Reason for leave: An employee need not specifically invoke rights under the CFRA (or the FMLA).
- An employee may simply state that the leave is needed for medical treatment for the employee or a family member, or for the birth or adoption of a child. [2 CCR § 11091(a)(1).
CFRA DESIGNATION (2 OF 3)

• Specific medical information need not be disclosed: The regulations do not require that an employee divulge the specific medical condition, diagnosis, or treatment (whether the employee’s or a family member’s) causing the need for a CFRA leave. [See 2 CCR § 11091(a)(1)]

• If the employer needs further information to determine whether the employee is requesting CFRA leave or the reason for the leave, it must request such information from the employee. [2 CCR § 11091(a)(1)]
NOTE: CFRA regulations generally prohibit employers from seeking that information, and the CFRA model medical certification form provides that an employee’s underlying diagnosis may not be disclosed without his consent.

CFRA regulations expressly prohibit an employer from contacting a healthcare provider for any reason other than to authenticate a medical certification. Also, the employee’s supervisor may not contact the healthcare provider for any purpose.
CFRA TIMING

• Timing/duration of leave: The anticipated timing and duration of the leave must be included in the employee’s leave request. [2 CCR § 11091(a)(1)]

• Timing of notice: If the need for leave is foreseeable, the employee must give “reasonable advance notice.” [Gov.C. § 12945.2; see 2 CCR § 11091(a)(2)—employer may require up to 30 days’ advance notice]

• If the need for leave is not foreseeable (e.g., medical emergency), the employee must give the employer notice “as soon as practicable.” [2 CCR § 11091(a)]
Separate and Distinct Entitlements. The right to take a pregnancy disability leave under Government Code section 12945 and these regulations is separate and distinct from the right to take leave under the California Family Rights Act (CFRA), Government Code sections 12945.1 and 12945.2.
RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN
PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE
AND LEAVE OF ABSENCE AS
REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION

• The right to take pregnancy disability leave under Government Code section 12945 and these regulations is separate and distinct from the right to take a leave of absence as a form of reasonable accommodation under Government Code section 12940.
CFRA LEAVE AFTER PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE (1 OF 2)

• At the end of the employee's period(s) of pregnancy disability, or at the end of four months of pregnancy disability leave, whichever occurs first, a CFRA-eligible employee may request to take CFRA leave of up to 12 workweeks for reason of the birth of child if born by that time.
CFRA LEAVE AFTER PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE (2 OF 2)

• (1) There is no requirement that either the employee or child have a serious health condition to take CFRA leave for the birth of her child.
  - There is also no requirement that the employee no longer be disabled by her pregnancy before taking CFRA leave for the birth of her child.
CFRA VIOLATIONS

• (1) Transferring employees from one worksite to another for the purpose of reducing worksites, or to keep worksites below the 50-employee threshold for employee eligibility under CFRA;

• (2) Changing the essential functions of the job in order to preclude the taking of leave;

• (3) Reducing an employee's hours available to work in order to avoid employee eligibility; and

• (4) Terminating an employee when it anticipates an otherwise eligible employee will be asking for a CFRA-qualifying leave in the future.
NEW PARENT LEAVE ACT

§ 11035. Definitions.

- Less than 50 employees at worksite or within 75 miles of worksite, but at least 20 employees at worksite or within 75 miles of worksite, 1250 hours worked.
- Right to a family care leave for the birth, adoption, or foster care placement of child the NPLA leave may be up to 12 workweeks in a 12-month period.
- Not for medical leave or serious condition i.e. CFRA.
POSTING REQUIREMENTS

• Your Rights and Obligations as a Pregnant Employee, which applies to businesses with 5 or more employees.

• Family Care and Medical Leave and Pregnancy Disability Leave, which applies to businesses with 20 or more employees.
YOUR RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS AS A PREGNANT EMPLOYEE

NOTICE OBLIGATIONS AS AN EMPLOYEE:

When your employee reasonably believes that he or she needs or must be away from work for health reasons, an employee must notify the employer within a reasonable time of his/her absence. The employer must then inform you of any leave of absence that is provided to an employee who is a pregnant woman. Under the law, the employer must inform you of your rights under this leave of absence. If you do not notify the employer of your rights under this leave of absence, the employee may be denied any further leave of absence for health reasons. If you do not notify the employer of your rights under this leave of absence, the employee may be denied any further leave of absence for health reasons. If you do not notify the employer of your rights under this leave of absence, the employee may be denied any further leave of absence for health reasons.

ADDITIONAL RIGHTS UNDER CALIFORNIA FAMILY & MEDICAL LEAVE ACT (CFMLA)

Under the California Family Rights Act, you may have rights to a family care or medical leave for the birth, adoption, or foster care placement of your child or your own serious health condition or that of your child, parent or spouse. California law also prohibits employers from discriminating against employees who request or take medical leave under the law. If you request or take medical leave under the law, your employer may not discriminate against you in any way that is related to your medical leave.

Under the California Family Rights Act, you may have rights to a family care or medical leave for the birth, adoption, or foster care placement of your child or your own serious health condition or that of your child, parent or spouse. RULES FOR POSTING DFEH INFORMATION

- If 10 percent or more of a company’s workforce speaks a language other than English, the posters must also be displayed in that language (or languages). DFEH provides translated posters in several languages, available in the resources section of our website. We will work with an employer if other translations are needed.
REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION

• “Is any change in the work environment or in the way a job is customarily done that is effective in enabling an employee to perform the essential functions of a job. Reasonable accommodation may include, but is not limited to an employer:
§ 11035. DEFINITIONS.

• (1) modifying work practices or policies;
• (2) modifying work duties;
• (3) modifying work schedules to permit earlier or later hours, or to permit more frequent breaks (e.g., to use the restroom);
• (4) providing furniture (e.g., stools or chairs) or
• (5) providing a reasonable amount of break time and use of a room to express breast milk in private.
• (a) It is unlawful for an employer to deny a request for reasonable accommodation made by an employee affected by pregnancy if:
  – (1) The employee's request is based on the advice of her health care provider that reasonable accommodation is medically advisable; and
  – (2) The requested accommodation is reasonable.
• (A) Whether an accommodation is reasonable is a factual determination to be made on a case-by-case basis.

DFEH Settles Pregnancy Discrimination Case against Kitty Kat Bar in Huntington Park

Waitress terminated by employer after disclosing her pregnancy to receive $15,000

Sacramento – The California Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH) has reached a settlement in a gender discrimination case with Respondents Kitty Kat Bar and its owner, Custodio Mendez, involving alleged pregnancy discrimination in employment.

The complainant, a waitress in the bar, filed a charge with DFEH in May 2017 alleging that when the owner learned of her pregnancy, he harassed her, changed her work schedule to reduce her tips, and ultimately terminated her employment.

Based on its investigation, DFEH found cause to believe a violation of the Fair Employment and Housing Act had occurred and referred the case to DFEH’s Dispute Resolution Division, which provides no-cost mandatory dispute resolution services in cases DFEH intends to prosecute in court, where the case settled. As part of a settlement agreement, the Respondents will pay the complainant $15,000.

“Expectant mothers are entitled to work without fear of demotion, termination, or ridicule because they are pregnant,” said DFEH Director Kevin Kish. “It is unlawful for employers to harass or take action against an employee because she is pregnant or may become pregnant.”

In addition to the monetary settlement, the Respondents have agreed to develop, implement, and distribute a written policy prohibiting discrimination on the basis of gender, including pregnancy, and other protected characteristics. They will post DFEH posters regarding sexual harassment and discrimination in conspicuous places in any businesses owned, operated, or managed by Respondents, and will obtain fair employment training for Respondents’ owners, managers, supervisors, and employees annually, for five years.

Martha L. Gomez, Staff Counsel, represented DFEH.

DFEH Settles Pregnancy Discrimination Case against East County Glass & Window

Employee Alleged She Was Terminated Because of Her Pregnancy

Sacramento – The California Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH) has settled a pregnancy discrimination case with East County Glass and Window, Inc. (East County) in Contra Costa County involving a former employee who alleged her bosses fabricated a reason to terminate her after learning she was pregnant.

The employee filed a complaint with DFEH in January 2017 alleging that her supervisor and the company president discussed replacing her with a non-pregnant employee after learning she was pregnant. Less than a week after the complainant asked for adjustments to her schedule to make appointments with her OB/GYN, she was fired. Though the employee was told she was being laid off due to budget concerns, she learned that another woman was hired to perform similar work shortly after she was terminated. DFEH found cause to believe a violation of the Fair Employment and Housing Act had occurred and filed suit in Contra Costa County Superior Court after an unsuccessful mandatory mediation.

“Too many employers continue to penalize employees who become pregnant,” said DFEH Director Kevin Kish. “Employees who become pregnant are entitled to the same rights as other employees with temporary disabilities, including the right to reasonable accommodations that can take the form of a restructured schedule, modified assignments, or temporary leave.”

In addition to paying $22,000 to the employee and $3,000 to partially offset DFEH’s fees and costs, East County will revise its employment policies to include specific provisions for handling requests for pregnancy disability leave and disability accommodation; put up DFEH posters that inform employees of their rights in the workplace; and require that all managerial employees attend annual training on fair employment requirements.
OBSERVATIONS

1. Not having job reinstated after taking PDL, or CFRA/NPLA.
2. Running out of PDL before CFRA starts.
3. Pretext - Losing job or job opportunity due to pregnancy.
4. Pretext - Never came back to the job vs. was told not to come back by employer.

Agency Overview

Division of Labor Standards Enforcement (DLSE)
www.dir.ca.gov/dlse

Responsible to vigorously enforce minimum labor standards to protect employees from working under substandard unlawful conditions and to protect employers who comply with the law from those who attempt to gain a competitive advantage.
Lactation Breaks – California Law

- In 2002, the legislature enacted lactation accommodation labor code laws. (Labor Code §§ 1030-1033)
- Senate Bill No. 142 amends Labor Code Sections 1030, 1031, and 1033. Adds Section 1034
- Lactation accommodation law applies to all employers in the state regardless of size.
- Exceptions – only if it would “seriously disrupt” the operations of the employer.
- Penalties for failure to accommodate.
Requirements - Break Time

- California Labor Code Section 1030 – Every employer must provide a reasonable amount of break time...

  - Senate Bill 142 Specifies that the break time shall be provided each time such employee has need to express milk.

  - If the employee requires additional break time, the employer is still required to allow the lactation breaks at other times.

  - The employer does not have to pay for pumping time, beyond the standard break time.
Requirements - Location

- California Labor Code Section 1031. (a) An employer shall provide an employee with the use of a room or other location for the employee to express milk in private...
  - A lactation room or location shall NOT be a bathroom.
  - Must be safe, clean, and free of hazardous materials, as defined in Section 6382.
  - Contain a surface to place a breast pump and personal items.
  - Contain a place to sit.
Requirements – Location Continued
Labor Code Section 1031

• Some specific industries require additional accommodations.
• A Multipurpose room can be used for lactation and shall take precedence over other uses.
  ➢ An employer in a multitenant building or multiemployer worksite.
  ➢ Employers or general contractors coordinating a multiemployer worksite
  ➢ An agricultural employer, as defined in Section 1140.4 – including but not limited to farming, cultivating, growing, harvesting, raising of livestock...
Requirements – Employer Exception

– California Labor Code § 1031. (i) An employer that employs fewer than 50 employees may be exempt...

– California Labor Code § 1032 – An employer is not required to provide break time if to do so would seriously disrupt the operations of the employer.

– The law does not define what serious disruption mean but it may consider the employer’s difficulty to comply due to space limitations, financial hardship and specific circumstances of the business.
Consequences of Violating Lactation Accommodation Laws

California Labor Code § 1033

- The denial of reasonable break time or adequate space to express milk shall be deemed a failure to comply for purposes of Section 226.7. An aggrieved employee may file a complaint under this subdivision with the Labor Commissioner pursuant to Section 98.

- The Labor Commissioner may issue a citation and may impose a civil penalty in the amount of one hundred dollars ($100) for each day that an employee is denied reasonable break time or adequate space to express milk.
Discrimination Related to Lactation Breaks

– Retaliation for requesting or using this accommodation is prohibited and will be investigated under Labor Code Section 98.6.

– Any employee who is a victim of retaliation for either asserting a right to lactation accommodation or for complaining to the Labor Commissioner about the failure of an employer to provide this accommodation may file a retaliation claim pursuant to Labor Code Section 98.7.

– An employee must file a retaliation claim with the Labor Commissioner’s Office within six months of the retaliation.
Policy : Lactation Accommodation

- California Labor Code § 1034. (a) An employer shall develop and implement a policy regarding lactation accommodation that includes the following:
  1. A statement about an employee’s right to request lactation accommodation.
  2. The process by which the employee makes the request described in paragraph (1).
  3. An employer’s obligation to respond to the request described in paragraph (1) as outlined in subdivision (d).
  4. A statement about an employee’s right to file a complaint with the Labor Commissioner for any violation of a right under this chapter.

FAQ’s

Q. Does an employer have to provide an employee with additional break time to express breast milk?
A. Yes, an employer must provide additional break time to employees who need it.

Q. Does an employer have to pay for the additional time to express breast milk?
A. No. While the employer must allow an employee to leave the work area to pump, the employer does not have to pay for pumping time, beyond the standard break time.

Q. Can my employer demand a doctor’s note or other medical documentation?
A. No. Your employer cannot require you to submit any documentation regarding your need to express breast milk.

Q. Does my employer have to provide me with a place to express breast milk?
A. Yes, your employer must make a reasonable effort to provide you with the use of a room or other location other than a bathroom and in close proximity to your work area. This may include the place where the employee normally works if it otherwise meets the requirements.
Thank You

Rule 1.1. The number of minutes needed to express breast milk per Lactation Break and the number of Lactation Breaks needed per day varies from Employee to Employee, and may change over time for the same Employee. If an Employer seeks to limit the duration of an Employee’s Lactation Break or the number of Lactation Breaks per day, the Employer must demonstrate that the duration of the break requested by the Employee is unreasonable.

Rule 1.2. The time that it takes an Employee to get to and from the Employer’s designated Lactation Location and, if at a separate location, to and from a refrigerator and a sink with running water, shall not be included as part of the Employee’s break time.

Rule 1.3. The Employer may not impose a limit on the duration of a Lactation Accommodation (e.g., months or years).
OLSE Rulemaking – Lactation Location

Rule 2.1. Whether a Lactation Location, refrigerator, and sink with running water are “in close proximity to the Employee’s work area” depends on the specific situation. The Lactation Location, refrigerator, and sink with running water should not be placed so far away that it would be likely to deter a reasonable similarly situated person from exercising their rights under the Ordinance.

Rule 2.2. Subject to the requirements of state and local law . . . Employers may satisfy the Lactation Location requirements with temporary structures or spaces.

Rule 2.3. Subject to the requirements of state and local law . . . Employers are not required to provide a Lactation Location unless and until an Employee requests Lactation Accommodation.

Rule 2.4. Employers are not required to provide a refrigerator exclusively for Employees to store breast milk; provided, however, that the Employee’s need to store breast milk takes priority over other uses of the refrigerator.

Paid Parental Leave Ordinance

2020 Pregnancy & Family Leave Workshop for Employers
January 28, 2020

Maura Prendiville
Supervising Compliance Officer
pplo@sfgov.org
PPLO hotline: (415) 554-4190

Office of Labor Standards Enforcement
What is the Paid Parental Leave Ordinance (PPLO)?

• First of its kind in the United States; passed by Board of Supervisors in 2016 and enforced by OLSE since 2017.

• Provides eligible employees working in San Francisco with additional compensation from their employer while they are using Paid Family Leave (PFL) benefits.

• Why?
  • The PPLO was intended to help ensure that loss of income does not preclude parents in San Francisco from bonding with their new child.
Covered Employers

Applies to employers that have employee(s) who work(s) in San Francisco

• Employ Threshold Number of Employees:
  Global count of twenty (20) or more employees

• An Employer with fluctuating workforce – number of employees goes up and down over time – should average employees over PPLO Lookback Period

• Government entities are not covered employers
Covered Employees

1. Commenced employment at least 180 days before the bonding leave period.
   • The employee does not have to be covered by state or federal leave laws to receive the supplemental compensation!

2. Work at least 8 hours per week in San Francisco for the covered employer

3. Work in San Francisco at least 40% of weekly hours for the covered employer

4. Apply for and receive California Paid Family Leave (PFL) benefits for new child bonding from the Employment Development Department (EDD)
Covered Employees: Paid Family Leave (PFL)

- Six weeks (soon to be 8 weeks) of partial wage replacement to employees while bonding with a newborn, adopted or foster child
- Benefit, depending on income, is 60% to 70% up to cap (cap is $1300/wk in 2020)
- Both parents can take time off simultaneously or separately
- Can be taken consecutively or intermittently
- Must be taken within one year of birth, adoption or placement

PFL Questions: Call 1 (855) 342-3645
In 2019, the CA legislature expanded PFL benefits from 6 weeks to 8 weeks.

For Claim Effective Dates starting July 1, 2020 and going forward, employees can get 8 weeks of PFL benefits.

This means that for employees with Claim Effective Dates 7/1/2020 and going forward, all covered employers will be required to extend their Paid Parental Leave compensation from 6 to 8 weeks as well.

Covered Employees:
Upcoming Changes to PFL and the Impact on PPLO
General Employer Requirements

• Covered employers must:
  • Display the PPLO poster at the workplace (available on our website)
  • Provide the PPLO Form to any employee who is expecting to become a parent.
    • If the employee speaks a language other than English, provide the PPLO Form in that language.
  • Pay supplemental compensation to Covered Employees.
  • Maintain records
General Employer Requirements

Steps for Employers

1. Post the PPLO Poster

2. Provide the PPLO form to any employee who indicates that they will be or have become a parent (in the language they speak)

3. Determine employee eligibility by seeing if they meet the definition of “Covered Employee”

4. Calculate and pay employee
Steps for Employees

1. Apply for California Paid Family Leave, on-line or in paper form
2. Complete the San Francisco Paid Parental Leave (PPL) form
3. Submit the completed SF PPL form and the Notice of Computation to Employer
4. Maintain records and receipts from EDD
Employer Requirements: Supplemental Compensation

1. Employee returns SF PPL form

2. Calculation Instructions:
   a. Normal Gross Weekly Wages, (minus)
   b. EDD Weekly Rate

   The sum of the EDD PFL benefit & employer provided supplemental compensation equals 100% of employee’s gross wages up to cap ($2,167 in 2020)

   Example:

   Claim Effective Date is after 7/1/2020.

   If employee earns $1,000 per week and the EDD replaces $700, the employer will owe $300 per week for up to eight weeks ($2,400).

   Payment is due at next regularly scheduled pay period
Common Compliance Issues & Misconceptions

• Failing to notify employees about their rights under PPLO: as soon as you become aware that an employee expects to become a parent via birth, adoption, or fostering, provide them with the PPLO form and document that you provided the form.

• Screening out employees incorrectly.

• Common misconceptions:
  • The City pays extra money to people on parental leave (not true!!)
  • PFL and PPLO compensation are only for birth mothers (not true!!)
  • An employee has to take their leave all at once (not true!!)
  • If an employee hasn’t worked for 180 days, I don’t need to notify them of their rights (not true!! The employee may become covered by PPLO at a later date, while they’re eligible for PFL!!)
Employer Best Practices

• Keep a log. Document, in detail:
  • Conversations with employees;
  • What documentation has been provided and when;
  • What documentation has been returned and when.

• Have a knowledgeable point person
  • Make sure others are aware of that person’s role
  • Train relevant staff to ensure parental leave inquiries are routed to the correct person

• If you outsource leave of absence issues → make sure your administrator has a mechanism in place to screen for SF-based employees and advise them appropriately.
