

EDUCATION & EMPLOYMENT

EDUCATION

A college education can be a powerful tool when it comes to supporting yourself, but getting there can seem very challenging. Here's a basic outline of what you'll need if a college education is part of your plans.

- Graduation from high school and receipt of a high school diploma are admission requirements at many colleges, including those in the California State University system. It is always best to stay in high school to receive your high school diploma, but sometimes it is not possible to do so. There are options available for completing the equivalent to a high school diploma:
 - Passing the California High School Proficiency Examination is the legal equivalent of earning a high school diploma.
 - The General Education Development program (GED) is another examination program that, upon successful completion, offers the equivalent of a high school diploma.
 - Remember that completing either the California High School Proficiency Examination or the GED does not eliminate the high school course requirements or the grades and test requirements.
- Getting copies of your GED Records: If you already took the GED, you may request copies of your records by contacting the GED Testing Service:
Contact: gedtestingservice.com

Preparing to pay for college: Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). One of the tools you can use to estimate your eligibility for federal student financial assistance is the Financial Aid Estimator Tool – FAFSA4caster – which is available online at: www.fafsa4caster.ed.gov

You may have heard that if you have been convicted of a felony, you are not eligible to receive financial aid. This is not necessarily true. A student convicted of possession or sale of illegal drugs may have eligibility suspended if the offense occurred while the student was receiving federal student aid (grants, loans, or work-study). When you complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), you will be asked whether you had a drug conviction for an offense that occurred while you were receiving federal student aid. If the answer is yes, you will be provided a special worksheet to help you determine whether your conviction affects your eligibility for federal student aid. You may preview the worksheet in the FAFSA Information section at www.studentaid.ed.gov/pubs. If you have been convicted of a forcible or nonforcible sexual offense, and you are subject to an involuntary civil commitment upon completion of a period of incarceration for that offense, you are ineligible to receive a Federal Pell Grant.

EMPLOYMENT

FAIR CHANCE ORDINANCE SAN FRANCISCO EMPLOYMENT/HOUSING POLICY

On August 13, 2014, San Francisco's Fair Chance Ordinance went into effect. The Ordinance requires some housing providers and employers to review an individual's qualifications before inquiring about their arrest and conviction record. This ordinance applies to employers with 20 or more employees, contractors with city contracts over $5,000, and housing providers that have received funding from the City.

Post where readily accessible to job applicants and employees.

CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

EDWIN M. LEE, MAYOR

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS AND EMPLOYEES

San Francisco Fair Chance Ordinance

Police Code, Article 49

Starting August 13, 2014, the Fair Chance Ordinance (San Francisco Police Code, Article 49) requires employers to follow strict rules regarding the use of arrest and conviction records in hiring and employment decisions. The ordinance covers job applicants and employees who would be or are performing work in whole, or in substantial part, in San Francisco and applies to employers who have 20 or more employees (regardless of the employees' locations).

Certain matters are off-limits. An employer may never ask about, require disclosure of, or consider: an arrest not leading to a conviction (other than an unresolved arrest that is still undergoing criminal investigation or trial); participation in a diversion or deferral of judgment program; a conviction that has been expunged or made inoperative; any determination in the juvenile justice system; a conviction more than 7 years old; and a criminal offense other than a felony/misdemeanor. Matters that are off-limits cannot be used by the employer for any reason at any stage of the hiring process.

An employer cannot ask about an individual's conviction history or unresolved arrests at the start of the hiring process. This includes through a job application form, informal conversation, or otherwise.

A mandatory interactive process for matters not off-limits. Only after a live interview has been conducted, or a conditional offer of employment made, is the employer allowed to ask about an individual's conviction history (except as to matters that are off-limits) and unresolved arrests. Only those convictions and unresolved arrests that directly relate to the individual's ability to do the job may be considered in making an employment decision.

Before the employer may take an adverse action such as failing/refusing to hire, discharging, or not promoting an individual based on a conviction history or unresolved arrest, the employer must give the individual an opportunity to present evidence that the information is inaccurate, the individual has been rehabilitated, or other mitigating factors. The individual has seven days to respond, at which point the employer must delay any adverse action for a reasonable time and reconsider the adverse action. The employer must notify the individual of any final adverse action.

Evidence of rehabilitation include satisfying parole/probation; receiving education/training; participating in alcohol/drug treatment programs; letters of recommendation; and age at which the individual was convicted. Mitigating factors include coercion, physical or emotional abuse, and untreated substance abuse/mental illness, that contributed to the conviction.

Preemption. Where federal or state law imposes a criminal history requirement that conflicts with a requirement of the Fair Chance Ordinance, the federal or state law will apply.

No Retaliation. An employer may not take an adverse action against an applicant or employee for exercising their rights under the ordinance or cooperating with the Office of Labor Standards Enforcement OLSE.

If you need more information, or wish to report an employer that you believe has violated this ordinance, please contact the OLSE at 415-554-5192 or email FCE@sfgov.org.

DEFY VENTURES

Defy Ventures is a non-profit organization that works with individuals who have had previous criminal justice involvement (18+ years and older) to create profitable enterprises that sustain them and their families over time. We support emerging entrepreneurs in the launch of their ventures by offering intensive hands-on entrepreneurship training, character development, mentoring, business incubation, financing opportunities and holistic personal development services.

In 2014, Defy switched from a brick-and-mortar classroom training program to a “blended learning model” that leverages technology to equip people with criminal histories to become successful, legal entrepreneurs and business leaders. The blended learning model combines online training in entrepreneurship, employment and leadership with in-person executive mentoring, hands-on entrepreneurial team challenges, character-building exercises, and Shark Tank-style business plan competitions.

Defy’s key strategic partners are the 3,000+ private sector volunteers (and many of their companies) who have given 13,500+ hours to mentoring and teaching our EITs, provided pro bono business development services to EITs and to Defy, and served on our governing and advisory boards. In the Bay Area, Defy works with criminal justice partners and nonprofit re-entry organizations such as The Last Mile, HealthRIGHT360, Impact Hub, Stride Center, St. Vincent de Paul of Alameda County, and Community Works West to recruit Bay Area EITs (Entrepreneurs in Training). We partner with leading private sector professionals to teach courses and develop training content, including venture capitalist and founder of Draper University Tim Draper in San Mateo, faculty members from the Harvard and Stanford Business Schools, marketing guru Seth Godin, and former NYSE CEO Duncan Niederauer. www.defyventures.org
