RE: Anonymous v. Rahaim (11063)

ISSUES TO BE DETERMINED

Uncontested/Contested Facts: Anonymous offers few factual allegations to support their complaint. The following factual recital is primarily comes from my review of the tape of the May 24, 2011 Land Use Committee meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

During its consideration of approval of an ordinance ratifying the Development Agreement ("DA") between the City and the Park Merced project developers, the Board of Supervisors ("BOS") held a series of meetings at which that Ordinance and the underlying DA was considered. These included the meeting of May 24, 2011, at which the DA was amended and then referred to the full Board of Superiors without recommendation.

The May 24, 2011 Land Use Committee agenda included the following description of item 2, the Ordinance approving the DA:

[Development Agreement - Parkmerced]

Sponsor: Elsbernd

Ordinance approving a Development Agreement between the City and County of San Francisco and Parkmerced Investors, LLC, for certain real property located in the Lake Merced District of San Francisco, commonly referred to as Parkmerced, generally bounded by Vidal Drive, Font Boulevard, Pinto Avenue and Serrano Drive to the north, 19th Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard to the east, Brotherhood Way to the south, and Lake Merced Boulevard to the west; making findings under the California Environmental Quality Act, findings of conformity with the City's General Plan and with the eight priority policies of Planning Code Section 101.1(b); and waiving certain provisions of Administrative Code Chapter 56.

In addition, the front page of the agenda contained the following language: "Note: Each item on the [. . .] agenda may include the following documents: 1) Legislation 2) Budget and Legislative Analyst report 3) Department [] cover letter and/or report 4) Public correspondence. These items will be available for review at City Hall, Room 244, Reception Desk."

The draft DA included with the Committee packet for the Agenda Item under consideration on May 24, 2011 had not been signed by Mr. Rahaim at the time of the Committee hearing. The DA was not finally signed by Mr. Rahaim until DATE, after its approval by the Board of Supervisors and signature by the Mayor.

The Chair of the Land Use Committee began consideration of the DA during the May 24, 2011 meeting by allowing BOS President Chiu to introduce a series of amendments to the DA for consideration by the Committee. Supervisor Chiu first summarized those amendments, then turned to City staff, including Michael Yarne of the Office of Workforce and Economic Development and DCA Charles Sullivan, to further describe the substance and effects of these proposed amendments to the DA. The participants described the amendments as intended to provide additional protections for tenants beyond those already provided by the DA. Following the comments of Mr. Yarne and DCA Sullivan, the Committee took extensive public comment on the agenda item, including the proposed amendments.

President Chiu indicated during his remarks that copies of the proposed amendments had been made available to members of the public through his office and through the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. This has been disputed by some members of the public, who said no copies of the amendments were available to them, only summaries of those amendments.

Following public comment, committee members adopted the proposed amendments without objection. Supervisor Weiner then moved to forward the Ordinance approving the amended DA to the full board that afternoon for its consideration, as a committee report, without recommendation from the committee. At that point, Supervisor Mar, the chair of the committee, stated that, due to the legal complexity of the proposed amendments, he favored continuing the item to give both supervisors and the public time to further digest the amendments before the amended DA was voted on by the committee. Based in part of this rationale, Supervisor Mar voted against the motion to refer the matter to the full board. Nevertheless, the motion to report the matter out to the full board passed, with Supervisors Weiner and Cohen voting in favor.

Prior to calling the question on the motion to refer, Supervisor Mar asked DCA Adams whether a continuance was legally required before taking a vote. Supervisor Mar asked if the amendments adopted by the Committee were "substantial" or could the Committee move forward that day and vote to refer the amended DA without continuing the item. DCA Adams replied that the "amendments made to the DA are within the scope of the notice of the meeting, [so the committee] can move forward without additional public comment."

QUESTIONS THAT MIGHT ASSIST IN DETERMINING FACTS:

- What actions of Mr. Rahaim are alleged to have violated the sections mentioned in the complaint?
- Is compliance with any of the provisions of sections 67.7, 67.7-1, 67.8, or 67.15 that Anonymous alleges were violated, the responsibility of Mr. Rahaim? Or are they responsibilities carried out by members of the legislative body that considered approval of the DA?
- In what way does the complainant allege that Mr. Rahaim violated section 67.7 of the Ordinance, governing the adequacy of agenda descriptions?
- In what way does the complainant allege that Mr. Rahaim violated section 67.7-1 of the Ordinance, governing the notice to be provided by City agencies to residents regarding legislative activity that may affect their property or the neighborhood?
- In what way does the complainant allege that Mr. Rahaim violated section 67.7-8 of the Ordinance, governing agenda requirements for closed sessions?
- In what way does the complainant allege that Mr. Rahaim violated section 67.15 (a)-(b) of the Ordinance, governing requirements for public comment on items on an agenda?

RE: Anonymous v. Rahaim (11063)

- In what way does Anonymous allege that Mr. Rahaim violated Section 67.33 of the Ordinance, which requires department heads to sign a declaration annually that they have read the Sunshine Ordinance and attended a training session thereon.

LEGAL ISSUES/LEGAL DETERMINATIONS:

- Are any of the provisions of sections 67.7, 67.7-1, 67.8, or 67.15 that Anonymous alleges were violated, the responsibility of Mr. Rahaim? Or are they responsibilities carried out by members of the legislative body which consider approval of the DA?
- Was the description of the agenda item for approval of the DA sufficient to put a member of the public on notice that they may wish to make additional inquiry about the matter?
- Were supporting documents available for public review as required by section 67.7?
- If made available to the public, were such documents available for review within the time periods required by section 67.9?
- Did the proposed amendments to the DA trigger additional notice requirements under section 67.7-1 of the Ordinance beyond those already provided for consideration of the DA?
- Under section 67.15, was there a "substantial change" to the DA during the committee meeting that required additional public comment, beyond that which had been taken during the meeting?
- Do any of the allegations or facts related to this complaint support a conclusion that Mr. Rahaim has violated the requirement of Section 67.33 that she has read and received training on the Sunshine Ordinance?

SUGGESTED ANALYSIS

Agenda Description

It is unclear what Anonymous alleges was the deficiency in the agenda description of the Ordinance approving the DA. It also is unclear what Anonymous alleges was the action of Mr. Rahaim that violated Section 67.7 of the Ordinance.

The California Attorney General has concluded that, under Government Code § 54954.2, the agenda must include a sufficient description "to inform interested members of the public about the subject matter under consideration so that they can determine whether to monitor or participate in the meeting of the body." See The Brown Act: Open meetings for Local Legislative Bodies. The courts have held that, under the Brown Act, "where the subject matter to be considered is sufficiently defined to apprise the public of the matter to be considered and notice has been given in the manner required by law, the governing body is not required to give further special notice." Phillips v. Seely (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 104, 120.

While section 67.7 of the Ordinance provides more specific guidance as to what is required for an agenda description to be "meaningful," those requirements are similar to those enumerated in the Phillips case, above. Section 67.7(b) provides that the description should be "sufficiently clear and specific to alert a person of average intelligence and education whose interests are affected by the item that he or she may have reason to attend the meeting or seek more information on the item." On the other hand, that same provision goes on to add that "[t]he description should be brief, concise and written in plain, easily understood English." Thus, there remains the tension between the requirements that a description be brief and plain, and that it also convey sufficient information to alert the reader that the committee may act on a matter about which the reader may have an interest and may wish to find out additional information. The Task Force therefore must decide whether the agenda description quoted above was legally sufficient under the requirements of the Brown Act and the Ordinance.

In addition, Section 67.7 also requires that the agenda "shall refer to any explanatory documents that have been provided to the policy body in connection with an agenda item [] and such documents shall be posted adjacent to the agenda or, if such documents are of more than one page in length, made available for public inspection and copying at a location indicated on the agenda during normal office hours." Page 1 of the agenda provides notice that such explanatory documents "will be available for review at City Hall, Room 244, Reception Desk." Therefore, the Task Force must decide whether the documents in question were next to the agenda at the time of the meeting, or otherwise available for review, as the agenda states.

In connection with this inquiry, the Task Force may wish to consider Section 67.9 of the Ordinance, which was not cited by Anonymous, but governs the time that such explanatory documents must be available for review by the public. Under those provisions, the explanatory documents must be available for review at approximately the same time they are made available to committee members, with some additional flexibility if they are made available to committee members only during consideration of the item. In the latter case, they should be made available immediately, or as soon thereafter as is practicable.

Finally, the Task Force may wish to consider whether, even if there was a violation of this provision, Mr. Rahaim was the City official legally responsible for such a violation.

Notice re Affect On Neighborhood

It is unclear how Anonymous alleges Section 67.7-1 was violated. It also is unclear what Anonymous alleges was the action of Mr. Rahaim that violated that section of the Ordinance. I have no information as to what public notices were provided pursuant to this section, if any.

The requirements of Section 67.7-1 as to public notices is similar to that of the Brown Act and Section 67.7 with regard to agenda items, with some differences. For example, any such notice must include "the effect of the proposal or activity." Therefore, with regard to the sufficiency of any notice under this section, the Task Force must decide whether it was brief concise and written in plain, easy to understand English. It also must decide whether any such notice met the additional requirements of 67.7-1(b), such as informing residents of the "effect of the proposal or activity." Finally, the Task Force may wish to consider whether the amendments adopted by the Land Use Committee on May 24, 2011 would have changed the "proposal" to such a degree as to require a new notice under this section.

Finally, the Task Force may wish to consider whether, even if there was a violation of this provision, Mr. Rahaim was the City official legally responsible for such a violation.

RE: Anonymous v. Rahaim (11063)

Public Comment

It is unclear how Anonymous alleges Section 67.15 was violated. It also is unclear what Anonymous alleges was the action of Mr. Rahaim that violated that section of the Ordinance.

It appears from a review of the meeting video that public comment was allowed on the amendments to the DA during the committee meeting when they were introduced, and that public comment was vigorous. Some members of the public requested that the item be continued so as to give them additional time to review the amendments before the offered public comment. Some members of the public stated that they had not yet seen a copy of the proposed amendments to the DA.

Section 67.15(a) of the Ordinance is virtually identical to section 54954.3(a) of the Brown Act. Each provide that a legislative body need not take additional public comment on an item for which the public already has had an opportunity to address the body on the item, "unless the item has been substantially changed since the committee heard the item, as determined by the legislative body." There appears to be no state case law that directly addresses what is meant by the term "substantially changed" as used in these two statutory provisions.¹ Nevertheless, several conclusions can be drawn.

First, it is important to note the rules governing statutory construction. To determine intent, one first turns to the words of the statute, itself. When the language of the statute is clear, one need go no further. However, when a provision is susceptible to more than one interpretation, one may look to the legislative history, the objects to be achieved, and the statutory scheme, in general. Chafee v. San Francisco Public Library Commission (Chafee II) (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 109, 114. One must avoid an interpretation that renders a part of the statute "surplusage." Chafee II, id.

According to the language of the statutory provisions, the relevant inquiry is whether the DA, which was the agenda item in question, was substantially changed by the amendments adopted by the Land Use Committee at the May 24, 2011 meeting, "as determined by the legislative body." In order to make that determination, there are two levels of analysis. First, the Task Force should consider the original DA, at the time the meeting was held, and compare its provisions with the DA after it was amended by the Committee. There appears to be general agreement among Committee members and members of the public, during the May 24, 2011 hearing, that the DA already contained provisions intended to protect tenants, and that the amendments purported to offer additional tenant protections. The Task Force will need to decide whether, taken in their entirety, the amended DA constituted a substantial change from the DA as it existed prior to the amendments adopted by the Committee.²

¹ The Northern District U. S. Court did hold, however, that there was no "substantial change" justifying additional public comment where an agenda item was changed by deleting a phrase from a resolution calling for impeachment of President George Bush and Vice-President Cheney, after the resolution was considered by committee but prior to being voted on by the full Board of Supervisors. See Jenkel v. CCSF (2006) 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 49923 at pp. 15-17.

RE: Anonymous v. Rahaim (11063)

Second, state and local statutory provisions appear to lodge discretion with the legislative body in making the determination of whether amendments make a substantial change mandating a continuance and additional public comment. The interplay between obedience to a public duty (such as required public comment) and the exercise of discretion by a public official (such as making a determination whether an amendment triggers additional public comment) is most often analyzed in the context of a petition for a writ of mandate. Such a petition seeks to have a court force a public official to comply with an asserted public duty. In that context, courts have held that mandate "lies only when the petitioner shows the respondent failed to act upon a clear, ministerial duty to do so[.]" International Federation of Professional & Technical Engineers, AFL-CIO v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 213, 224. "[T]he writ of mandate is not a writ of right to be freely issued whenever a court disagrees with the policy of the administrative action." Barnes v. Wong (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 390, 396. Accordingly, "mandamus will not lie to control the discretion of a public official or agency; that is, to force the exercise of discretion in a particular manner." Gordon v. Horsley (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 336, 350-51; Unnamed Physician v. Bd. Of Trustees of St. Agnes Medical Center (2001) 93 Cal.App.4th 607, 618.; see also, Hiatt v. Berkeley (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 298, 323.

While the Task Force is not a court considering a petition for a writ of mandate, the principles involved in analyzing this issue are similar and may provide guidance to the Task Force in considering the Land Use Committee's exercise of its delegated discretion in deciding whether amendments to the DA required additional public comment. Under such principles, the Task Force would need to find not merely that it disagrees with the decision of the Committee, but to find further that the Land Use Committee abused its discretion in determining that there was no "substantial change" in the DA that would require a continuance.

Finally, the Task Force may wish to consider whether, even if there was a violation of this provision, Mr. Rahaim was the City official legally responsible for such a violation.

Department Head Declaration

It is unclear how Anonymous alleges Section 67.33 was violated. It also is unclear what Anonymous alleges was the action of Mr. Rahaim that violated that section of the Ordinance.

Section 67.33 contains a relatively simple requirement: that a department head annually sign and file a declaration under penalty of perjury that they have read the Ordinance and have attended a training session on its requirements. To demonstrate a violation of this provision, a complainant would need to present evidence that Mr. Rahaim had failed to sign and file the requisite declaration.

² The City Attorney's Office argues in its response to Complaint numbers 11066 and 11067 that there was no "substantial change" for two reasons. First, there already were significant tenant protections in the DA and therefore amendments offering additional tenant protections did not materially alter the agenda item under consideration. Second, the Ordinance adopting the DA already included a provision allowing the Planning Director to amend it in ways that were "in the best interests of the City and that [did] not materially increase the obligations or liabilities of the City or decrease the benefits to the City." Thus, argues the CAO, the Ordinance already would have allowed the Planning Director to make the changes the Committee added in the amendments through legislative action, and therefore the amendments did not substantially change the substance of the agenda item.

Remedies

It is unclear from the complaint what remedies Anonymous is seeking should the Task Force conclude that the Ordinance was violated. It also appears that no remedy is available that would affect the validity of the legislative action of the Land Use Committee should the Task Force find a violation on this complaint.

Prior to amendments to the Brown Act in 1986, the validity of an action taken in violation thereof was not affected by that violation. Centinela Hospital Association v. Didi Hirsch Psychiatric Service (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1586, 1598; Stribling v. Mailliart (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 470, 474; Adler v. City Council of Culver City (1960) 184 Cal. App. 2d 763, 774. The rationale of these holdings was that, in the absence of specific statutory remedies invalidating official action of a public body, the law was directory rather than mandatory. See Stribling, 6 Cal.App.3d at 474; Adler, 184 Cal. App. 2d at 774. In addition, in Stribling, the Court further held that then San Francisco Charter Section 19(f), which required that meetings of commission be open to the public, also was directory and not mandatory. The Court therefore found that an alleged violation of this local charter provision would not invalidate action taken by a commission. Stribling, 6 Cal.App.3d at 475. The Sunshine Ordinance also does not include remedies allowing invalidation of a legislative act taken in violation of its provisions.

The Brown Act was amended in 1986 to provide for proceedings in state court to invalidate legislative actions taken in violation of certain of some of its provisions. See Gov't Code Section 54960.1. Such an action may be brought for a violation of requirements governing agenda descriptions (§ 54954.2), closed sessions (§ 54954.5), meetings concerning adoption of new taxes (§ 54954.6), special meetings (§ 54956), or emergency meetings (§ 54956.5). Absent these specific provisions of the Brown Act, the law remains the same for violations of public meeting provisions – a violation does not invalidate an act taken by the legislative body. In addition, the Brown Act specifies that these remedies are available through an action in state court for mandamus. For these reasons, the Task Force has no power to invalidate any action taken in violation of the Ordinance or the Brown Act.

CONCLUSION

THE TASK FORCE FINDS THE FOLLOWING FACTS TO BE TRUE:

THE TASK FORCE FINDS THE ALLEGED VIOLATIONS TO BE TRUE OR NOT TRUE.

Subject Re: Sunshine Complaint Received: #11063_Anonymous v
John Rahaim, Planning Department

History: This message has been replied to.

SOTF,

This Sunshine complaint has no merit and we contest jurisdiction. The Land Use Committee is a Board of Supervisor's (BOS) entity and Planning has no jurisdiction over Agendas or Public Notices being published. Furthermore, The Development Agreement for Parkmerced (we assume this is the document in question) was NOT signed by Mr. Rahaim until well after the date of 5/24/11.

On May 24, 2011, at the Board of Supervisors' Land Use Committee, Board President David Chiu introduced 14 pages of amendments to the Development Agreement. The Land Use Committee voted to move the DA along with those changes onto the full Board of Supervisors without recommendation as a Committee Report. After 2 readings at the Board, the Board approved the final DA - which included the 14 pages of amendments introduced by David Chiu - through Ordinance No. 89-11 on June 7, 2011. It was signed into law on June 9, 2011 by the Mayor.

Attached is the final signed and recorded Development Agreement and the approving Ordinance.

Planning's Parkmerced Web site <http://sfplanning.org/index.aspx?page=2529> lists and dates all updates to the DA for the public to view.

Please contact me with any further questions.

Sincerely,

As
