What We Do

Conferences

CAHRO sponsors networking and training conferences for those working within the field of human relations, Civil Rights and Human Rights, youth issues, law enforcement issues, and local and state governance.

Technical Assistance and Consultation

CAHRO provides technical assistance and consultation in the field of human relations and intergroup conflict resolution for schools, human relations commissions, public governments, community groups, and law enforcement.

CAHRO provides technical assistance and consultation in the following areas:

- Hate violence prevention and response
- Creating a bias free school plan
- Human relations development and capacity building
- Writing grant proposals for human relations commissions
- Developing a human relations commission work plan
- Preventing and resolving community, school, or gang conflicts
- Community intergroup assessment for state and local governments
- Intergroup relations assessment for correctional institutions and school districts

- Police community relations

Technical assistance is provided to organizations working in the field of human relations and civil right issues.

Advocacy

CAHRO works to advance public policies in support of tolerance and understanding, hate violence prevention, intergroup relations, and human and civil rights for all.
