Supplemental Information

Generation Citizen’s Youth Voices at the Ballot Box includes research and reasons why the voting age should be lowered, on a national level, to the age of sixteen. It addresses current obstacles, debunks myths and skepticism towards the effort, and shares the current efforts and future plans of the initiative. Because of our partnership with Generation Citizen in our work on lowering the local voting age in San Francisco, as well as our efforts in bringing this initiative to a national level, the Youth Commission hereby supports and co-sponsors Generation Citizen’s white paper entitled “Youth Voice at the Ballot Box.”

Luis Avalos-Nunez, 2015-2016 Youth Commission Chair
